Mundt Says 12 Other Bad Racket Cases Exist

Elkins Is Returning Tomorrow

Langley, Crosby Will Be Quizzed

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.) says a special Senate committee investigating racketeering in labor and industry has "a dozen cases as bad as" a situation it is probing in Portland, Ore.

Mundt is a member of the committee which heard testimony for most of last week concerning alleged alliances between officials of the powerful teamsters union and underworld elements.

The hearing, in recess today, resumes tomorrow. Committee Chairman McClellan (D.-Ark.) said James P. Elkins, a Portland gampler, will be recalled then for questioning about his prior allegations that some teamster union officials and racketeers tried to grab control of gambling activities and after-hours drinking clubs in Portland.

Friendly Witness

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said Elkins—who has been a "friendly" witness—will testify that tribute was collected from such activities, and will tell who got that money.

Kennedy said that after Elkins and some "supporting witnesses" are questioneed tomorrow, the committee will call William M. Langley, Multnomah county (Portland) district attorney now under indictment, and Clyde C. Crosby, organizer for the teamsters in Oregon. Langley and Crosby were listed as witnesses for Wednesday.

Kennedy said Crosby will be questioned about his connections as a member of the Portland city Exposition-Recreation Commission. It has been charged in testimony that Crosby was allied with Portland underworld figures in efforts to influence selection of a site for an eight million dollar coliseum.

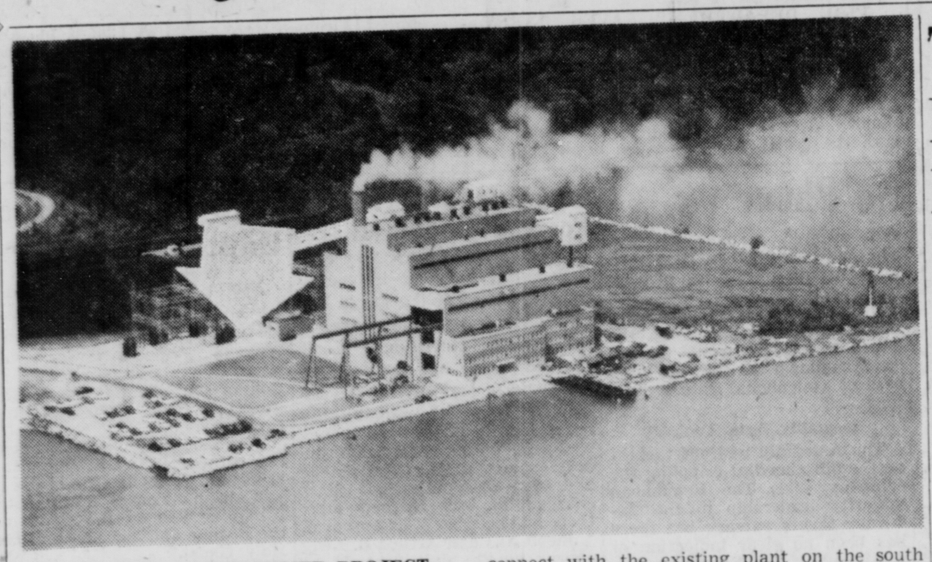

Brewster Next Week

Langley already is in Washington. So is Frank W. Brewster of Seattle, head of the 11-state Western Conference of Teamsters. McClellan said the committee may not call Brewster before early next week.

The committee was told last week that Brewster tried to "muscle in" on vice and gambling in Portland, in league with racketeers and politicians.

Brewster, who was given a vote of confidence Saturday at a San Francisco meeting of western Teamster secretaries, has been cited for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions before the Senate investigations subcommittee. Brewster challenged the author-

C-H STARTS DANSKAMMER PROJECT—Construction began today on a $23,365,000 addition to Central Hudson's Danskammer Point electric generating station. The new unit will connect with the existing plant on the south (arrow). Danskammer Point is six miles north of Newburgh on the west bank of the Hudson river.

To Be Finished in Fall of 1959

New Electric Plant Will Double Output

Construction work on Central Hudson's new $26,500,000 addition to its Danskammer Point electric generating station got underway today with the arrival of equipment and machinery at the site for excavation and substructure work.

The new 138,000 kilowatt unit to be constructed will approximately double the station's electric generating capacity and bring the investment at Danskammer Point to almost $50,000,000. The new unit is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1959.

Engineered Other Plants

Poirier and McLane Corporation of New York city is the contractor for excavation and substructure work on the new unit. The engineering firm of Burns and Roe, Inc. has been engaged by Central Hudson to perform the engineering work and to supervise the construction of the new unit. Burns and Roe performed similar services for the first two units at Danskammer Point.

Danskammer Point is located about six miles north of Newburgh on the west bank of the Hudson river. The new unit will conform architecturally to the two existing units and will be built as a continuation of the existing station on the south.

Needed for Growing Area

In announcing the start of construction work today, Ernest R. Acker, Central Hudson president, said that the new unit "will be an important element in the company's continuing program to meet the increasing requirements of customers for low-cost, dependable electric power and will provide for the rapidly growing demands for power in this area."

He noted that the new unit will operate under higher steam pressure and temperature than the existing units. "As a result," he said, "we can look forward to even higher efficiencies in operation than was possible when Units No. 1 and 2 were planned."

Modern Facilities

Mr. Acker said that the design for the new unit incorporates the improvements made in steam generating technology since the first two units were planned and as a result the unit will have a thermal efficiency which will compare favorably with that of the most modern steam electric generating facilities. "We feel that the plan adopted for Unit No. 3 represents the most progressive design for this size unit consistent with sound engineering and reasonable economy."

Present schedules call for delivery of the boiler at the site early in 1958 and the turbine-generator in the fall of the same year.

Youth Fined $15 In Phone Case, Speeders Pay $55

A young man charged with pulling a telephone receiver from its moorings in an outside telephone booth was fined $15 in city court today; three drivers, charged with speeding, paid $55 in fines, and another was fined $15 on a charge of driving without a license.

Frank Joseph Gardecki, 20, of Box 299, East Kingston, arrested at 12:05 a. m., Sunday, on a charge of malicious mischief, paid the fine on the telephone count. It was charged that he pulled the receiver from a phone box in the outdoor booth at the Frank Nadal service station, 320 Broadway.

Arrested After Tip

The arrest was by Officers William Slover and Leonard Ellsworth, after a tipoff, which directed suspicion toward Gardecki.

Arrested on speeding charges early today were Albert E. Beatty, 54, of 96 Main street, New Paltz, and Thomas Brinello Jr., 41, of Otisville, both arrested on the Boulevard, and Frank Anthony Lyna, 28, of 9 South road, Mt. Marion, arrested on Albany avenue. All were ar-

2 Traffic Mishaps Occur on Sunday

Four persons were reported injured in two city traffic mishaps Sunday.

Three reported injuries after a two-car collision at Maiden Lane and Clinton avenue at 2 p. m., and a woman was hurt in another accident at Broadway and Stuyvesant street at 9:12 p. m.

A car owned by Joseph Medve, of 176 Elmendorf street, and driven by Joseph Medve, Jr., 18, of the same address, headed north on Clinton avenue, hit a pole as a result of the afternoon collision, police said.

The other car, owned and driven by Mrs. Janice Johnson, of Chichester, was headed east on Maiden Lane. It was towed from the scene. The Medve car, the report said, was struck in the rear.

Joseph Medve, Jr., suffered a nose injury, Mrs. Johnson suffered shock, and Earl Finley, 47, of Chichester, was also reported hurt, but his injuries were not listed.

Deputy Chief Robert F. Murphy, and Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Garvin Fisher, were at the scene.

In the other mishap, a car owned by Caroline H. Mohr, 626 Delaware avenue, and driven by William H. Mohr, 51, of the same address was headed north on Broadway, and the other, owned by Dorothy Manello, RD 1, Box 127, East Kingston, driven by John Manello, 47, of the same address, was headed south on Broadway. Caroline Mohr was shaken up, suffered shock and was to be treated by a doctor, the report said.

Officers Everett Emmick and Gerard McCloskey investigated.

Urge Lawmakers Clarify Workmen's Compensation

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—A special committee of the New York Bar Assn. says the Legislature should redefine the State's Workmen's Compensation Act.

The committee said in a statement yesterday that administrative and judicial interpretations of the act had transformed it into "a general health insurance law based on social concepts."

The result, the committee said, was higher costs for employers and higher prices for consumers.

The committee was appointed in 1954 to study the compensation law and to cooperate with the Moreland Act Commission which is reviewing the program.

The Bar Association has not acted on its committee's report, which will be submitted to Gov. Harriman and the Legislature.

Compensation costs in New York state were high, the committee said, and reasons included "a tendency to construe the workmen's compensation law in a way not contemplated by the Legislature when the law was enacted."

Areas in which there has been a departure from legislative intent, the committee said, included: Definitions of "accident" and "occupational disease;" awards where there had been no loss of wages or impairment of earning capacity; payments for questionable disabilities and for injuries caused by acts unrelated to the job.

Recommended in the report were higher standards and tenure for referees in compensation cases, broader court review of rulings by the workmen's compensation board and more reliable improved medical procedures for evaluation of cause and extent of disability.

James J. Beha of New York city is chairman of the committee.

Tot's Body Is Found In Closet

Hunger and Fear Blamed for Death

Bellmawr, N. J., March 4 (AP)—The search for tiny Mary Jane Barker ended in a three by five closet of a vacant ranch house here yesterday where a playmate found the huddled body of the pretty, blond child.

Six-year-old Maria Frietta, visiting the newly built house of her aunt, playfully threw open a closet door. Her puppy, which had disappeared along with Mary Jane last Monday bounded out, alive and frisky. On the floor, however, lay four-year-old Mary Jane, her blonde tresses covered by the hood of her jacket.

Trapped A Week

A medical authority connected with the investigation—he declined to be identified—said the child probably died of fright and starvation after being trapped in the cold, dark closet. A pathologist said a cursory examination gave no indication of "foul play" nor was there any evidence the girl had been criminally assaulted. A preliminary autopsy indicated Mary Jane had eaten nothing since she vanished.

Edward Garrity, Bellmawr police chief, said the brick, one story home had been searched three times since Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barker reported their little daughter missing and he was "almost positive" the closet had been checked. Garrity said there were no marks of violence on the child's body.

Await Autopsy

A spokesman for the county prosecutor said nothing would be announced until autopsy results were complete.

Camden County Coroner Robert J. Blake said the child's vital organs would be sent to the state capital at Trenton for tests

Jimmy Rear Door

Burglars Try Safe At Grant's

Local police today began investigation of an unsuccessful attempt at safe-cracking in the W. T. Grant Co., store, 307 Wall street, over the weekend.

William Troeber, of 276 Washington avenue, manager of the store, said that entrance to the building was gained through the jimmying of a large rear door after attempts to open two rear windows had apparently failed.

Safe Badly Hammered

The safe, about three feet high and two feet wide, was hammered so badly that it was unable to function today.

The extent of loss in merchandise was not immediately determined, the manager said, but it apperaed not to be heavy after first checks were made.

Couldn't Tell Day

Mr. Troeber and Mrs. Eugene Scharp, of 43 Hone street, an office employe, discovered the burglary when they arrived at the store this morning. It was not determined whether it was committed Saturday or Sunday night, but it was noted that the store clock had stopped at 11:50.

It was also indicated that the store was entered during the night because burned matches were found, and discovery of cigarette butts of different brands indicated that more than one person was involved. It was also indicated that one person had acted as a "lookout" near the front of the store while attempts were made to crack the safe in a rear office area.

A crowbar and two screwdrivers were left behind and two windows in the building were left open.

The building was approached from an alley between the Woolworth and Grant stores in the rear.

17 Are Missing

Tottori, Japan, March 4 (AP)—A Japanese air force twin engine transport carrying 17 persons—including two Americans—crashed into the Japan Sea at Miho Air Base today. A Japanese defense spokesman said all 17 aboard are missing and there is little hope any would be found alive. An American rescue boat, Japanese coast guard vessels and fishing boats were combing the area in search of possible survivors.

Says 'Threat' Without Basis

No Phone Growth Halt Probable: PSC

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—A public service commission official says the New York Telephone Co. is making a "veiled threat" that telephone service will suffer unless it is allowed a 55-million-dollar annual rate increase.

The company says it must have adequate revenues and earnings if it is to operate properly and provide better service.

Weekend statements were issued — independently of each other—by chief counsel Kent H. Brown of the PSC and Keith S. McHugh, company president.

Brown urged the legislature to pass a bill, backed by the PSC, that would provide the commission a legal basis for rejection of a current company tpplication for permission to raise rates $55,400,000 a year.

McHugh said the company believed that "adequate revenues would mean, not only better service but, in the long run, lower rates that might be needed by a company held continually on ragged edge of financial safety."

No Basis, He Says

Brown said the many chambers of commerce opposing the bill had been "led to believe that, unless the company is permitted to earn more dividend income, its promised billion-dollar, five-year expansion and improvement program will be scrapped and telephone service will suffer.

"Continuation of the present earnings experience . . . obviously will occasion no such cutback in the company's expansion program. The veiled threat is completely without basis."

The company has said that, despite record earnings through last year, it has had to dip into surplus in order to raise its dividends to what it terms its "regular" $8 per share. McHugh said ratio of earnings to income was below that of "the worst four years of the depression."

Brown said American Telephone and Telegraph Co. was the sole owner of New York Telephone stock—nearly 10 million shares. He said the parent company had "insisted" upon the $8 payment and thereby had set the amount of the regular dividend."

Lean on Court Decision

The current application for a rate increase is based on a 1956 Court of Appeals decision that the PSC had erred in refusing to consider replacement cost — rather than the lesser original cost—of company property in determining the company investment when settting rates. The company had appealed PSC refusal of a 1953 request for an annual $68,850,000 increase in rates.

The court held that the law required use of replacement cost

4,975,701 Motor Vehicles in 1956

Albany, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—A total of 4,975,701 motor vehicles were registered in New York state in 1956. The 1955 total was 4,807,747.

The motor vehicles bureau said in a report Saturday that 1956 receipts were $113,748,512, compared with $114,742,725 the previous year. Most drivers renewed three-year licenses in 1955 and fees paid swelled that total.

Registrations last year continued an upward trend that began in 1944, the bureau said.

Registration totals reported for 1956, with increases over 1955 in parentheses: passenger, 3,995,574 (99,735); commercial, 500,492 (11,352); suburban, 257,407 (48,222); trailers, 144,396 (7,529); taxis, 25,467 (884); motorcycles, 20,949 (289); buses, 19,714 (970).

The bureau said the only decline was in farm vehicle registrations, which dropped 1,033 to a total 11,151.

Expect Assembly To Oppose Phone Rate Hike Bill

Albany, March 4 (AP)—The Assembly is expected to give overwhelming approval tonight to a bill aimed at heading off a $55,400,000-a-year rate increase sought by the New York Telephone Co.

What will happen to the measure when it reaches the Senate, however, is still very much in doubt.

The Public Service Commission, unanimous in favor of the bill, sought to bolster its prospects with a direct appeal yesterday to individual members of the Legislature.

Get Memoranda

PSC Counsel Kent H. Brown, obviously acting with the commission's approval, sent each lawmaker a meorandum answering various arguments that had been raised against the legislation.

"Your vote for this bill is urgently solicited," the memo concluded.

Oswald D. Heck, powerful Republican speaker of the Assembly, is pushing the bill in his house. He figures to receive heavy support from the Democratic minority.

Democratic Gov. Harriman has urged passage of the measure to

Israelis Are To Leave Two Areas

Ben-Gurion Will Talk With Burns

Jerusalem, Israel Sector, March 4 (AP) — Bitter demonstrations erupted in Jerusalem tonight soon after Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion ordered withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egypt.

Jerusalem, March 4 (AP)—Premier David Ben-Gurion gave the final go-ahead today for an immediate withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba coast.

A government spokesman announced Ben-Gurion had ordered the Israeli army chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, to invite Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the commander of the UN Emergency Force UNEF), to meet with him this afternoon "to discuss measures necessary to carry out the withdrawal of forces in accordance with the statement by the foreign minister, Mrs. Golda Meir."

Known In Advance

The announcement was made in advance of an appearance by Ben-Gurion before the Israeli Knesset (Parliament) at which the grizzled old premier was slated to reaffirm Israel's decision to pull out of the disputed areas, trusting to the United States and the United Nations for protection against a renewal of Egyptian shooting.

Mrs. Meir had announced to the UN Assembly Friday that the Israeli troops would retire behind the 1949 armistice lines. But opposition to the decision in Israel resulted in instructions from Ben-Gurion to Ambassador Abba Eban to seek "clarification" of the assurances given by the United States.

Finally Gets Permission

After a weekend of cabinet meetings and conferences, informed sources said the premier had finally gotten his divided government's permission to pull the troops back.

A government spokesman said Dayan has already cabled Burns to arrange the meeting.

Could Start Soon

Withdrawal could get underway this week.

The dramatic announcement was made to newsmen at midday as Ben-Gurion was engaged in nonstop conferences with leaders of political parties, including the leaders of the two parties in his coalition which threatened to quit over the withdrawal issue.

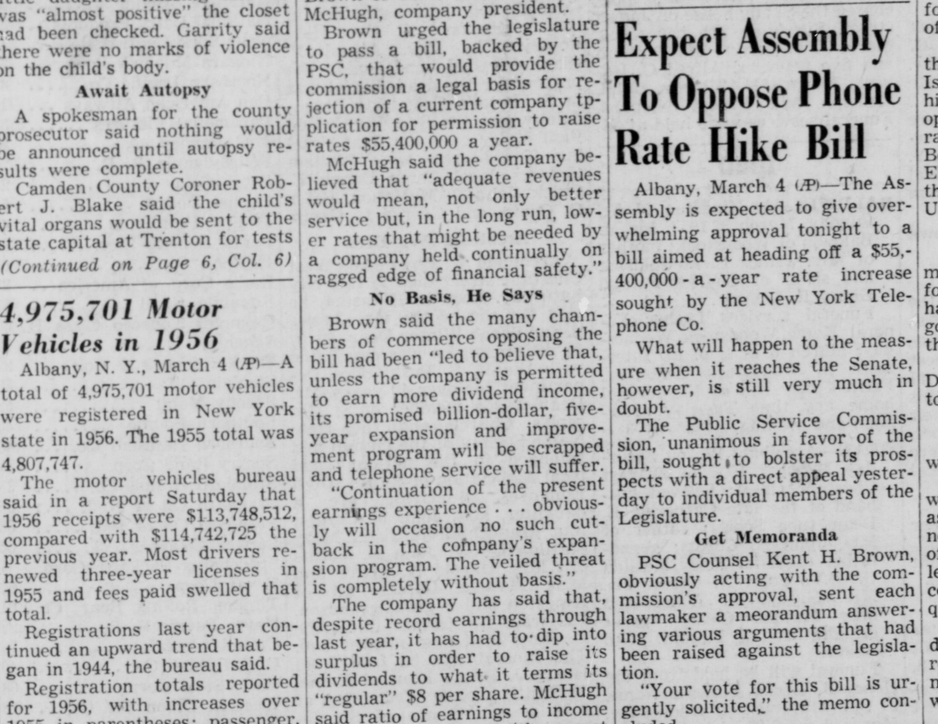

Ben-Gurion ordered the withdrawal to proceed even before he reported to the Knesset (Parliament) or held a "final" meeting with his cabinet.

Position Clarified

The official spokesman said the reason for the go-ahead was that "latest clarifications" of the American position had been received from the United States, and that Ben-Gurion had been in talks with most cabinet members.

Simultaneously it was announced Ben-Gurion will report to the Knesset tomorrow instead

Woodstock Woman Accidentally Shot

Mrs. William Lanier, 29, was struck in the foot with a .22 caliber bullet Saturday afternoon when a rifle in the hands of her husband accidentally discharged as he was entering the kitchen of their home on Glasco Turnpike, Woodstock, it was reported today by the Ulster county sheriff's office.

George C. Bynner and Charles McCullough of the sheriff's staff who investigated, reported that Mr. Lanier, 31, had just come into the house when the rifle went off, the bullet striking his wife, Mildred, in her left foot between the big toe and the second toe, causing a partial fracture.

Mrs. Lanier was taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment.

A young daughter, Linda, was reportedly present when the rifle discharged.

Mr. Lanier is employed at the IBM office on North Front street.

Time of the mishap was listed by the sheriff's office as 2:45 p. m.

Orange County Jail Escapees Are Captured

Two escapees from the Orange county jail, Newburgh, were apprehended late Saturday morning about two hours after they overcame the jailer and stole his keys.

John D. Hall, 21, of Coldenham, near Newburgh, and Francis Wililams, 34, of Newburgh, surrendered in a field in Central Valley about 12 miles south of Newburgh to a posse of troopers and sheriff's men.

The prisoners attacked Jailer James Guinn about 9:15 a. m. and took his keys after beating his head against the concrete floor. They fled in a car stolen from a used car lot near the jail but abandoned it a short time later at Highland Mills.

The two men were taken as they made their way toward the Thruway, it was reported.

Sheriff Claude Bell and two carloads of deputies from the Ulster county sheriff's office went to the southern sector of the county after a report of the break had been received. Both the sheriff's office and area state police set up roadblocks.

First Used Term

The term "nocturne" for dreamy, wistful piano pieces first was used by the Irish composer, John Field, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

FIRE DEPARTMENT SAVES BARGE—Timely pumping operations by the local fire department and later use of other pumps saved a barge used for storage by the Hutton Co., North street, from going to the bottom of the Hudson Sunday afternoon. A bottom leak threatened to sink the craft on which some brick had been stored. Firemen were called at 1:22 p. m., and Cornell station and Union Hose Company responded. Firemen pumped for an hour and 20 minutes, and then the Hutton company put three pumps in operation. The leak was patched and no further trouble resulted. A fire department pumper is shown here getting ahead of the leak. (Anner photo).

No Phone

and ordered a new hearing. The bill now before the legislature would specify use of original cost.

Brown said compliance with the law, as interpreted by the Court of Appeals, would lead to "a breakdown of the effectiveness of (telephone) rate regulation . . ."

Assembly Acts Tonight

The Assembly will act tonight on the bill aimed at crippling the company case. The Republican majority leadership in the Assembly favors passage but there has been no clear indication of sentiment of the Senate leadership, also Republican.

Brown's statement, which he called "an answer sheet" to the company presentation, was sent to each legislator. McHugh issued his statement in New York city.

Brown said the company had issued two million new shares—at $100 each — to AT&T from 1953 to 1956 and dividends had remained around $8 a share despite the increase in outstanding shares. He said 1956 earnings were equal to $7.97 a share.

The PSC counsel said total earnings of the company had increased from $62,504,000 on operating income of 654 million in 1953 to $78,704,000 on 823 million in revenue in 1956.

McHugh said "no amount of wishful thinking can change the hard fact that we must have adequate revenues and earnings if our business is to be run properly."

4 Workmen Are Buried by Slide

Little Rock, Ark., March 4 (AP)—A crushing avalanche of rock and dirt fell on workmen at an excavating site in the Little Rock business district today killing at least four.

One man was rescued alive a few minutes after the earthen wall a half city block long collapsed at Sixth and Main in the heart of the business district.

A witness, John Head, engineer on the excavating project, said the 20-foot-high dirt embankment gave way without warning.

"I had just walked away from where the men were digging," he said. "The wall just collapsed. There was no chance for them to get away."

Word Is Given

of tonight as previously scheduled.

Ben-Gurion was said to be near exhaustion from his continuous round of conferences over the weekend and frequent telephone calls to the United States.

The sequence of events in the Jewish capital since Friday's announcement in the United Nations was this:

The Israel cabinet met Saturday and Sunday to reconsider the withdrawal announcement because of a statement to the United Nations by American delegate Henry Cabot Lodge. Some government chiefs were angered at Lodge's comment that the future of the Gaza strip should be worked out within the framework of the 1949 armistice agreement. This was taken here to mean that Egypt would be allowed to return to Gaza, which Israel adamantly opposes because she claims Egypt is waging a border war against her from Gaza.

A cabinet meeting yesterday adjourned without announcing final decision on withdrawal. It was scheduled to give a final decision today, but was preceded by Ben-Gurion's order from Dayan to proceed with withdrawal.

Bell Aircraft Back

Buffalo, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—Normal operations were resumed at 10 area plants of the Bell Aircraft Corp., today with the return of about 6,000 employes who walked off their jobs last Friday because of a labor dispute. The walkout ended Saturday when company and union officials announced an agreement on job security and seniority rights. Members of Local 501, United Auto Workers, staged the walkout because, union spokesmen said, they feared loss of seniority rights if transferred from one plant to another as a result of a company reorganization. The company recently created an aircraft division and a weapon systems division. It operates 13 plants in the area and employs approximately 16,500, 10 of which are represented by the union.

Princess Caroline Baptized Sunday

Monte Carlo, Monaco, March 4 (AP)—Princess Caroline, 6-week-old daughter of Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace, was baptized yesterday in Monaco's Roman Catholic Cathedral. She squalled loudly through the ceremony.

Ten thousand flowers banked the cathedral's walls and altar as Bishop Gilies Barthe intoned:

"Caroline Louise Marguerite, I baptize you in the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Ghost."

The little princess was held by her godmother and cousin, 10-year-old Margaret Davis of Philadelphia, a niece of the child's mother, former actress Grace Kelly. The godfather, Hungarian-born Prince George Festetics, 17, held the infant's right hand. Four bishops and 15 priests took part in the service.

The guests included Princess Grace's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kelly of Philadelphia; members of Rainier's family; officials and prominent citizens of Monaco, and foreign diplomats.

A benediction message from Pope Pius XII was read.

Mundt Says

ity of the subcommittee to conduct the labor racketeering probe, which the special group now has taken over.

Calls For Laws on Funds

Mundt said yesterday the rackets investigation already has shown a need for legislation to foster better rank-and-file control of labor union funds and activities.

He said this view is based not only on what already has been brought out in testimony, but also on "what I know is going to come out" in future hearings.

Cites Dozen Cases

"We have a dozen cases as bad as this," Mundt said.

McClellan said the first week of his group's open hearings has demonstrated "rather conclusively" a link between teamster union leaders, public officials and gambling chiefs in Oregon.

McClellan told a reporter the committee may visit several cities to conduct hearings on racketeering. He declined to name them, but other sources said New York city and San Francisco, where some teamster officials also are under investigation, may be among them.

Infant Is Killed As Mother's Car Runs Into Tree

A seven-month-old boy was killed early Sunday afternoon near Hudson when his mother lost control of a pickup truck and crashed into a tree while attempting to keep the youngster from falling from the seat to the floor.

Daniel Skoda died instantly of a fractured skull, according to Columbia County Coroner Robert Near. He issued a verdict of accidental death.

Injured were the infant's mother, Mrs. Doris Skoda, 35, of RD, Craryville, and her three-year-old son, Joseph.

Has Fractured Leg

Mrs. Skoda was reported in fair condition today at the Columbia County Memorial Hospital, Hudson, with a fractured right leg, possible internal injuries, possible fractured ribs and facial lacerations. Joseph, who suffered facial lacerations, was in satisfactory condition in the hospital.

The accident reportedly occurred about 12:30 p. m. on Route 9 just south of Hudson in the town of Greenport.

Tried to Save Child

Craverack state police said Mrs. Skoda lost control of the vehicle as she reached out to prevent the baby from falling. The truck plunged off the west side of the highway and struck a tree. Both children were thrown from the right side of the vehicle by the impact.

The truck rebound from the tree pinning the baby against a rock. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Harold Levine of Hudson. The truck is owned by Joseph Skoda, Mrs. Skoda's husband.

Our National Cancer

By FRANK TRIPP

Every pundit, almost, has had his fling at what's wrong with the world, youth and society. What too many have written, pictured and televised has lulled the populace into alarming public apathy that threatens destruction of the ideals which founded our nation.

Frank Tripp

The people's direct participation in the developments of the last two decades has sunk to a new low. There has been too much punditry, too little common man horse sense to keep things on an even keel. We depend too much on representatives, organizations and committees to guide our daily lives.

We have let the pundits blame upset things upon every institution, government blunder, corporation and human emotion —according to what, at the moment, might most excite the customers, prove a best seller, a box office bonanza or a vote getter.

Few of them have touched upon the inescapable formula of the all-time best seller; many of them have flaunted it.

THE HOLY BIBLE stays at the top of the list. Somebody must be reading it; more should be defending its truths. More of the plain, wholesome people who believe it, but seem struck dumb or shamed into secret expression of their faith.

Our bookshelves and parlor screens belie our national motto; our literature and entertainment have approached a national cancer.

Where are the people who once flooded protests to offending publishers and producers of the profanity, vulgarity and indecency that have crept into American lives and homes and built a notion that the teachings of our fathers are mythical old fogyism; that only glamour, extravagance and self are important? Any new crackpot theory that will sell for cash.

Where are the people who once peppered editors with angry missives every time they abetted the rantings of new thinkers that challenged the home, lured and confused the minds of children?

HAVE THEY sneaked like scared slaves into the privacy of their home shrines to pray, "O God, I'm saved; please God save the rest of the people"? Once they went forth to face the mercenary dragons who have brought woe upon them.

They didn't have to suffer the heresy, the isms, fantastic theories and filth that have weaned their children away from the lives they wished for them.

They still need not. They need only assert themselves in sufficient numbers.

Today they leave the fight to organizations and committees which soon become smeared as scolds "living in the past," and discredited. The job was better done when the people did it.

ONCE, recognition by a newspaper of a risque novel, picture or irreligious theory brought a flood of frightening protests from readers. Now somebody passes a resolution—and the offender laughs.

I can remember when a little chorus girl who showed an inch of flesh between her bloomers and her stockings was yanked from the line. Silly, but that inch has expanded to the completely nude female body. Art!

One of the greatest plays of its era, "The City," was taken off the stage until a single blasphemous oath was deleted. Today you'll hear it on almost any stage, and read it, and worse, scores of times in modern literature. Why wouldn't Junior be swearing a little? Smart, he thinks.

PURITANIC and fanatical, the thoughtless will say, but it was letting down such bars that opened the way for today's overindulgence in "freedom of expression," the theme song of the modernist. Which has made so much that we read and see vulgar and repulsive.

We are reaping the harvest of too much freedom of expression in places where it does not belong; its confusion with the people's right to know.

There is nothing that free people need to know that cannot be told in decent,, inoffensive word and picture.

It is with pride that the newspaper can say that it has violated the sanctity and decency of the family circle the least of any secular medium that enters the American home.

As the people themselves accept and are silent, so will expand any trend that bedevils them.

Urges Early Action

The labor leader said this in a statement he filed with a Senate judiciary subcommittee considering the Eisenhower civil rights proposals and others in the same field.

STRENGTH IN UNITY

Once more Western Europe has moved a big stride toward the economic and political unity which may in time bring it truly abreast of the modern industrial age.

France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg have just agreed to establish—over a 12 to 17 year period—a broad common market for their respective industrial products.

This means that their present constricting tariff walls and other trade barriers would go down and the six nations would in a very real sense become one country economically. In fact, the agreement also embraces all their overseas territories.

In addition to this, the six agreed upon a pool of their atomic energy resources under a European Atomic Energy Commission. To a continent continuously short of other power sources, this combine may prove of the most vital significance.

A common market for Western Europe already exists in coal and steel. What is now to be set up would be an extension of that arrangement to the full range of Europe's output.

Such a tariff-free union has been urged for years as a basic step toward giving the continent the real benefits of industrialization. The economists insist that mass production techniques, with consequent advantages in lower prices to consumers, cannot be realized without broad mass markets. A Europe chopped up into various walled-off segments fails to provide them.

It should be noticed that Britain is absent from the group of nations which will sign the common market pact in Rome next month. But this does not mean Britain is indifferent to the need for a wider European trade area.

Britain has in fact proposed a European free-trade zone which could include the common-market nations and any others who might care to join. Somewhat different rules would be applied to the use of tariffs but the general aim would be the same.

All of these developments are viewed most hopefully in America, where for many decades the advantages of the broad single market have been apparent. Here mass production has reached its highest levels.

If these plans are executed well, Western Europe may also move toward a higher economic plane. And it may lay the groundwork for a political union that could contribute heavily to the peace of the world.

If anyone thinks that children no longer get big thrills from small things, let him watch the face of a youngster who is wearing a brand new pair of shoes.

PENNIES SAVED

An old maxim, "A penny saved is a penny earned," is being remembered—and acted on—by more and more Americans. We saved more last year than in any year since World War II.

Though the experts would like to see this go on for a much longer time before they put faith in it as a definite trend they are happy about the high rate of savings because they see it as a way of curbing inflation. Savings provide capital for expansion. Monetary officials would like to see the nation's economic expansion proceed only at such a rate that it can be paid for with funds the people are saving.

At present, the demand for money for capital investment is still ahead of savings. Also, a new rush by consumers to buy goods is quite possible, and that would slow down the rate of savings and widen the gap between accumulated capital and the demand for money. Nevertheless, champions of the old concept of thrift can take satisfaction in the people's apparent desire to put away more of their income. It is a healthy trend.

An Australian mechanic who couldn't sell his old car for $75 found $40,000 under a patch in the back seat. Whatever you call that, it's not depreciation.

WHEN YOU DEAL WITH SAVAGES

There are 450 American servicemen who are missing and unaccounted for in the Korean War. The Department of Defense takes the position that they are presumed to be dead and their next-of-kin have so been informed. The official State Department attitude is:

". . . under the terms of the Korean Armistice Agreement, the Chinese Communists have the obligation to give us whatever information they can about the fate of these men. Despite this obligation, and despite our vigorous efforts at Geneva and at Panmunjom, the Communists have refused to give a satisfactory accounting for these men."

It is impossible to get away from the fact that the Red Chinese refuse to gave a satisfactory accounting for these men. They may be alive, sick or dead they may be happy or miserable. All that their parents can do is keep a light burning in the window in the hope that they may come home one day. This country has been at war with Spaniards, Germans and Japanese, but it has never encountered a foe who disregards the basic amenities among nations which is to treat prisoners of war as innocent persons who obey orders and are caught in an unfortunate situation.

"Theirs not to reason why,
Theirs but to do and die."

The attitude of the State Department is also contained in the phrase: ". . . In keeping with our country's position that international problems should be resolved without force and threats of force. . . ." But when a country deals with a nation that only knows force and that only respects force, what is the value of a prolonged palaver? It would be just as suitable to hold no conferences, to avoid meetings and to wait until the course of events solved all problems. Certainly there can be no solution in the endless meetings at Geneva.

I am constantly receiving letters from mothers in search of missing sons. There must be more than a casual responsibility on the part of our government for these boys and for the peace of mind of their parents. Granted that the Red Chinese have other purposes than the American negotiators at Geneva. The Americans want the remaining 10 civilians released; they want to know about the 450 American servicemen alive or dead; they want to eliminate the possibility of war over Formosa. The Red Chinese want to be admitted into the United Nations and if possible, they want to be recognized by the United States.

Obviously there can be no meeting of the minds. The Red Chinese are in a position to say that the United States begs the issue; the Americans can say that the Red Chinese are blackmailing them for a seat in the United Nations. However you look at it, it is a dreadfully bad situation, particularly for the parents of the 450 for whom there may not even be a decent grave.

A complicating factor in this situation is that we never were at war with Red China. It was a United Nations police action against North Korea. After General Douglas MacArthur had virtually defeated the North Koreans, the Red Chinese took over this war as volunteers. But it was not really a war, although many were killed in it. It was a police action like the present United Nations patrol along the banks of the Suez and in the Sinai Peninsula. So, if the United Nations takes over the Gaza Strip, it would not be imperialism; it will be an international police action to keep Israel and Egypt separated. A fight might be very disturbing, indeed. And so, these countries must be separated.

Thus far, no American troops are involved in the Suez police action nor will they be in the Gaza police action. Up to now, the United Nations has not favored the larger countries getting into it, but there is no telling what can happen, particularly as the Eisenhower Doctrine calls for the United States sending troops to any Middle Eastern country that wants aid against the Communists. There is no telling how large a force that might commit. There is no telling anything about it at all. Nor is it possible to know whether an Arab country asking aid against Russia might not, in time, ask Russia for aid against the United States. This is a mixed up world and all sorts of things happen.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PARANOID DISORDERS

Paranoid disorders have been defined as a psychosis characterized by delusions of persecution and hallucinations. A psychosis itself is a specialized mental disorder. In the British Journal of Clinical Practice, it is stated by Dr. Ian Skottowe of the Warneford and Park Hospitals, Oxford, that paranoid disorders are states of mental ill-health in which the patient misinterprets his social environment in the light of a feeling, which may amount to a conviction, that chance events refer especially to him and are caused by a special attitude toward him on the part of others—usually hostility but sometimes affection—when, in fact, no such attitude exists. As a consequence, he is commonly furtive, aggressive and hostile toward his associates.

These disorders may be temporary or lasting, and in either case, mild or severe. They may appear as forerunners to almost any mental illness or they may persist by themselves in the form of illnesses in their own right. So defined, paranoid disorders are very common although their exact occurrence is unknown. Limited forms accounted for nearly one-eighth psychotic patients admitted to a mental hospital. Four-fifths of the men were under 40 years old and four-fifths of the women were over 40. About one-half of these patients had been discharged from hospital when followed up two years after admission.

What causes such a psychosis? One way in which an individual may react to personal inadequacy, failure, insecurity or rejection is to blame it on somebody else. Many who are wrongdoers in thought or in deed are quick to see criticism in the simple chance actions or remarks of their associates. Such attitudes of mind and trends of thought are denoted by the term "projection." The prevailing mood (affect) which underlies them is usually one of resentment or guilt, strongly tinged with suspiciousness. This is such a common human tendency that it cannot be regarded as abnormal by itself but it is the basic psychological pattern from which paranoid disorders are most frequently derived. Occasionally they appear to be derived from the projection of a strong erotic desire, as seen when a woman imagines her doctor or her parson is in love with her, but even in that case, resentment, guilt and suspiciousness usually appear, too.

Knowledge of the reasons why some individuals react thus to inadequacy, ill fortune, or sex instinct or love life, while others react by depression, excitement or daydreaming is incomplete. The explanation may lie chiefly in the way the patient is made, hence the importance of studying constitution. The biographies of some patients show a slow, continuous development from normality, through paranoid traits of character and paranoid reactions till they reach a point of definite delusions. Others just show paranoid reactions in certain circumstances and get over them when these circumstances change. In some few cases, the first warning may be the sudden declaration of some delusion. For example, a worker may walk into a company cafeteria and "sense" that everyone has stopped talking and is looking at him or her. It is just the sometimes sudden cessation of conversation we all have noticed in groups at one time or another, but the paranoid person immediately thinks that it has some personal reference.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Official Washington is more than pleased by the naming of Nobusuke Kishi as the new premier of Japan. He is considered about as pro-American as a Japanese can get—and still be elected to office. He believes in full U. S. cooperation.

Kishi's selection as premier has been forecast since before his visit to Washington in August 1955. Though he was only adviser to Foreign Minister Shigemitsu on that visit, Kishi was secretary general of his newly formed Democratic party. It is a progressive-conservative party, definitely anti-Communist and pledged to non-appeasement of Soviet Russia.

Premier Kishi takes over just after the arrival of Douglas McArthur II as new U. S. ambassador to Tokyo. There has been much speculation over whether the new ambassador's name would help him or hurt him. The consensus seems to be that the name won't hurt him any, though it may not help him, either.

For the problems between the United States and Japan—while not critical—are important. And many of them go back to policies first set for Japan during the American occupation under the ambassador's uncle, Gen Douglas MacArthur.

AMONG THE KEY ISSUES to be taken up, these are prominent:

Prisoners of war—On U. S. orders, 88 Japanese B and C class war criminals, convicted of atrocities, are still being held. All the Class A political prisoners, charged with causing the war, have been released. All other allied powers that fought Japan—excluding Russia—have released all their prisoners. But U. S. veterans' organizations still oppose a full release.

Korea—Any bettering of relations between Japan and Korea—which the United States would like to see—is held unlikely as long as President Syngman Rhee heads the Korean Republic.

Formosa — The Japanese give the impression they do not want the island surrendered to Red China. It isn't that Japan fears Red China. Japan simply wants full trade with Formosa.

OKINAWA—Until the Korean war, the United States rode roughshod over the Okinawans and treated them somewhat like conquered colonials. This is being changed now, under U. S. Far Eastern Commanding Gen. Lyman L. Lemmitzer, with a 600-million-dollar welfare, school and hospital construction program. No American military leader wants to let go of Okinawa. But the basic fact is that its long-term future hasn't been worked out.

Bonin Islands — This little group presents a similar problem. U. S. Navy holds jurisdiction — for unrevealed strategic reasons—and maintains the air base on Iwo Jima. Japanese were evacuated at the end of the war, but 3,000 are back now.

Trade — Import of Japanese products into the United States was a sore spot in this country long before World War 2. Japanese understand this — better than most Americans understand Japanese problems. Japan has therefore voluntarily restricted its exports to the United States. What Japan asks in return is full opportunity to develop trade in other world markets—even in Red China.

U. S. forces in Japan—Ground troops are down to one division and a combat team, plus special service and headquarters units. Japanese look forward to the day when the Yanks go home, but probably no more so than the Yanks anticipate it themselves.

BOTH COUNTRIES REALIZE that full withdrawal is impossible until the Korean situation is more stable and until Japan's own military forces are stronger. They now have an army of 120,000, air force and navy of 30,000.

U. S. bases—Even when U. S. ground forces do pull out, it will probably be necessary to maintain U. S. air and naval bases in Japan, for its own security. But the suggestion sometimes loosely made in Washington—that U. S. atomic weapon and guided missile bases be established on Japan — is something that would probably bring down any Japanese government that allowed it.

And with a fully cooperative administration now established in Tokyo under Premier Kishi, that is one thing which no official in Washington would want to start.

Justice Dept. Seen Denying Trial by Jury in Bias Case

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 4—Maybe there is no need for "civil rights" legislation after all. Congress will certainly be interested to discover how the Department of Justice just a few days ago in a move that has gone unnoticed generally, simply substituted the words "The United States" for the names of a local school board as a party to a law suit in federal court. By that device the 18 defendants arrested for allegedly hindering the federal injunction at Clinton, Tenn., can be deprived of a trial by jury and put in jail as unfairly as if they were living in some totalitarian country.

While the laws of the land under the Constitution of the United States do permit federal judges to punish for contempt certain offenses committed in a courtroom, or even outside, when the principals to a controversy refuse to obey a court order, a jury trial can usually be obtained on request. But it is something novel when a lawsuit has been started by private parties to find the Department of Justice petitioning the federal court to amend the original petition and substitute the words "United States" for those of the complainant. This automatically bars a jury trial.

Abuse of Power

If the federal judge in Knoxville, Tenn., approves this request and it is sustained on appeal by the courts it will not be necessary for the Congress to legislate on "civil rights." All that will be needed is for the Department of Justice to write out the orders and the courts will uphold them.

This is a flagrant abuse of power—much worse than any cited in the recent hearings before the House Judiciary Committee by the critics of the proposed "civil rights" legislation.

It is ironical that the American Civil Liberties Union — which on February 26th made a commendable statement criticizing the federal court injunction issued at Clinton, Tenn., as being too broad — didn't know that on February 25th the same federal judge was being asked by the Department of Justice to deprive citizens of a chance for jury trial. The Civil Liberties Union statement had rightly criticized the injunction as too broad and had said that "to the extent that it enjoins speech in opposition to or advocating ignoring of the order, or peaceful picketing for these purposes, it is invalid."

Upheld by ACLU

In that same statement, moreover, the right to jury trial was vigorously upheld by the ACLU even for those defendants who had been charged with actually "hindering" or "obstructing" the operations of a court order. The ACLU said:

"Under the federal law a person in contempt of a federal court order enjoining acts which are also in violation of the federal or state law is entitled, if he requests it, to a trial by jury. This protection of individual rights was originally written into the law to guard against possible biased judicial decisions in labor injunction cases and now covers all contempt issues. . .

"Similarly, as the acts charged against the 16 persons now facing trial allege violations of federal and state laws, these defendants can ask for a jury trial. Therefore no civil liberties issue is raised unless the jury trial is denied, which is unlikely in view of the clear instruction of the law."

But what the ACLU didn't know when it issued that statement and what most people throughout the United States didn't know because it wasn't reported in the press generally, was that the Department of Justice had resorted to a stratagem by seeking to make the "United States" a party to the suit, which — according to a law of Congress governing contempt cases—eliminates trial by jury.

Cite Lewis Case

Some critics not long ago pointed to the case of John L. Lewis as a precedent because he was fined once for contempt by a judge and was not given a jury trial. But those same critics failed to notice that the United States itself was a party to the suit. This was because the government, acting in accordance with a wartime statute, had seized the coal mines and hence any action taken by a union or its leaders to defy a court order was a defiance of the United States government itself.

There is no such parallel here. The school board officials at Clinton, Tenn., were wholeheartedly complying with the desegregation order of the federal court when they found certain persons in the town were "organizing a movement" to discourage attendance at an integrated school. Hence these school officials asked the court to enjoin anyone attempting to "interfere" with the school board's operations. But a local school board is not a part of the government of the United States and it is difficult to imagine any federal court judge consenting to the substitution of the "United States" for a local school board.

Even, however, if this strange petition does not win the approval of the court, the amazing thing is that anyone in the Department of Justice would try such a trick of circumvention in the very week when prominent lawyers from various states were warning Congress that to pass the "civil rights" legislation now being proposed would lead to grave abuses of power.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Wallace Turner and William Lambert, reporters for the Portland Oregonian, went to Washington, D. C. and gave testimony implicating the Teamsters' Union and local, regional and national officials thereof, in the efforts of "gangsters" to operate gambling joints and brothels. For their initiative reporting, unusual in that reach of the world under the spell of Dave Beck and his political machine, based on union Fascism, these journalists got the Heywood Broun award for the American Newspaper Guild for 1956.

Broun was a frowsy, licentious Communist, allegeric to truth, who eased into the presidency of the Newspaper Guild when it was founded, swindling decent reporters with a promise that the Guild would not join either the AF of L or the CIO. He soon took it into the AFof L, but because he was a Red, he tarried only briefly, then shoved it over to the left as one of the mantraps of the CIO, which was about the color of the little red schoolhouse which he affected to abhor.

During the AF of L phase, Broun cast about for some means of advertising his own name and creating a cheap reputation as a leader of labor. Trouble was always going in the northwest and Broun's henchmen in Seattle persuaded him to go out there from New York, pull a strike on Hearst's Post-Intellingencer picket the plant and raise a little noisy but personally non-hazardous hell. Broun went, but Dave Beck, then regional satrap of Dan Tobin, the president of the Teamsters, tried to talk him out of his strike. Beck had good relations with the P-I and he perceived that Broun was just a typical New York faker with nothing at stake in the union racket, then known as "the cause of labor," ad no purpose but to do himself some good.

However, Broun persuaded some of the P-I's people to hit the bricks and, by this fait accompli put Beck on a spot. Beck could not repudiate another union of the AF of L, but he did ignore the strike until the fat bum from New York Speaks realized that he had overmatched himself in his first main event.

In the crisis Broun howled for help and Beck reluctantly called out his goons, an army of sluggers whose name was adopted from a comic strip figure, and they set up a slow parade around the P-I plant which was called "a living wall." It was an easy strike to win because someone had discovered in the contracts of most unions a clause calling for hygienic conditions. The boss-goons of the rackets then decided that a picket line constituted a hazard to the health of those who had to go through it to reach their jobs. By this ruse they were able to violate without penalty their legal contracts to refrain from sympathetic strikes. Beck's "living wall" won the strike for Broun and the fat mahatma's first foray missed failure by a fluke.

Thereafter, William Randolph Hearst hired as publisher Nickel-John Boettiger, then the current husband of Roosevelt's daughter, to take the political onus, or heat, off the paper. Boettiger was a gumshoe who had been sent to Albany to cover Roosevelt's first campaign for the Chicago Tribune and soon found his canal-boats parked under the dining table at the governor's mansion. This meant chicken salad and f o o e y - f u n g - g u n g fetched in from the chink joint for weeks on end, but Nickel-John could put up with much to save the price of his meals at Keeler's where most of the mob were going against the blue plate.

And so, by the end of summer, he had saved enough to retread his blue serge pants, get his hat blocked, and make the down payment on the hoop. After he came out of his condition, and the divorce was firm, he went back to Colonel McCormick at the Tribune Tower and begged for a job, but the colonel said that, with no hard feelings, he couldn't fit him into his old seniority on the staff. The other guys had closed the gap during his absence.

Not so long after Beck won Broun's strike for him, the Guild went into the CIO and loaded up the eastern headquarters with political queers who never had run to fires with any of the recognizable American reporters of the rank-and-file.

There were freaks from Greek Communist mimeos and Yugoslav and Spanish ephemera. The plain, honest American city side talent found themselves dead for sleep from sitting on undertakers' chairs, in a dump over a waterfront dead-fall until all hours of the morning to vote down motions, which Broun constantly promoted, to call them out on strike. By now, the real newspaper people detested his tripes.

This move into the CIO convinced Beck that Broun was a four-flusher as he had suspected all along.

"Damn those damn amateurs anyway," he yelled in his squeaky treble. "Here I am a professional with more than 20 years in this racket. I know when to strike and how to win a strike, but this faker comes out here and pulls one against my advice and then hollers for me to come and win it for him. And then he goes over to the CIO. To hell with him."

And now, after all these years, Broun's old front hangs an award on two reporters in the same region for hanging some dirty medallions on the union which won the slob's first strike and set him up in business.

The Truth

Muncie, Ind. (AP)—Orville Hayworth, 47, was highly indignant when charged in city court with driving 100 miles an hour. "I was only going 80," he insisted. That was good enough for $10 and costs.

Investor Forum

Jim Dyck works for a bank. It is a career job with him. His yearly salary increases are as certain as the rising of the sun. He always knows what his annual earnings will be.

His regularity of income enables him to budget carefully his living expenses, educational and recreational costs, real estate taxes, charitable gifts and savings. Even his two children's weekly allowances are built into the budget.

Jim's wife is a meticulous housekeeper. She fits perfectly into a budgeted home. The even flow of money into their house gives her a feeling of economic confidence. From Jim's monthly payments on his residence to his eight-year-old youngster's weekly Sunday school contributions, every dime and every dollar are strictly accounted for.

Another Type Family

Bill Gray is a commission salesman. He is a dynamic go-getter. He wants no drawing account. He needs none. When he sells, he demands from his firm the biggest commission it can afford to pay. The firm likes Bill. It would give him anything reasonable in the way of guaranteed compensation.

Bill has fat years and lean years. He doesn't know what budgeting is. There is nothing prosaic about his household. During fat years his wife and children can have luxuries piled high. In November, 1956, Bill had a tremendous month and during the holidays and school vacation the family spent $2,500 on a southern trip.

Bill's wife would be bored to death in Jim Dyck's home. And Jim's wife simply couldn't stand the economic ups and downs of Bill's home. From the standpoint of compatibility, it is fortunate that Bill and Jim married whom they did.

Economic America somewhat resembles these families. Thousands of investors are wedded to the wrong stocks without fully appreciating what is wrong with the securties.

American Telephone and Telegraph common, owned by more investors than any other stock in the world, fits perfectly into a Jim Dyck home. It has paid $9 a share a year for more than three decades. Its price fluctuations from year to year are not wide. If there is in the universe one stock that can associate itself with budgets, this is it.

Now for a Bill Gray stock, Chrysler fills the bill. One year earnings will be $10 a share and it will sell for $100, and the very next year earnings may be $3 and it will go to $60 a share.

Thousands of American investors buy Bill Gray stocks when they should purchase Jim Dyck equities.

You Can't Have Both

The stock market in 1957 accentuates those differences. Many investors expect the impossible. They want steady, dependable income and big profits. It is like expecting Jim Dyck and Bill Gray conditions in one home.

Well, the Jim Dyck family has never splurged the way the Bill Gray family has and does. Jim's spending and saving are all circumscribed by a budget. When Bill has a lean year, things can be very stern in his household and when a fat year comes along, the spending sky is wide open.

The utility, bank, food and some merchandising common stocks are to the investment world what Jim Dyck's job is to his family. So are a score of good grade preferred stocks.

But in America there are thousands of unwary investors whose income annually runs the gamut of Bill Gray's earnings. Cycle stocks carry excitement, but they can be disappointing to those who need dependable income.

Q. "Would you buy (naming three typical cycle stocks) for income?"—E. W. C.

A. No. Buy stocks whose earnings and dividends parallel Jim Dyck's salary.

Scientists Making Progress on Cure For Aortic Disease

Bradford, Pa., March 4 (AP)—Scientitsts are working toward curing diseases of the heart's aortic valve and hope to eventually eliminate the disease altogether, says Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist who treated President Eisenhower.

White spoke last night at the fourth annual victory dinner of the McKean County Heart Assn.

He predicted that within 10 years physicians will be able to employ direct open heart surgery to cure aortic valve diseases.

"The problems of this aortic valve disease still elude us," he said. "The present surgery is not good enough. Progress is being made in this aortic valve condition through research. We hope, however, to do something better—that is, to prevent the diseases causing the defects in the valves."

White said that exercise is good for the heart and the entire body.

"The business man who walks six miles a day would be happier than through any philosophy that he may have," White said. "I think Ike gets great benefits from his exercise."

White asked the public to be patient until heart treatment problems are solved. He praised the Heart Association for raising research funds by acquainting the public with the problems of heart treatment.

Realism

Elizabeth, Ky. (AP)—Patrons of an Elizabethtown theatre got a dubious treat recently while one of those "creature" movies was playing. A prankster turned loose 30 bats in the darkness. The show had to be stopped while management and customers alike chased the furry animals out.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

WHAT BRANDEIS SAID

Crime continues to grow. The F.B.I. reports the number of major crimes in 1956 was the highest on record.

Why? We claim to be "peace loving"; don't we? Yet crime is war. Our crime rate is one of the highest in the world.

Who and what is responsible? Many reasons can be given.

MR. HUTTON

All contribute, but there's an accessory that is seldom, if ever, mentioned.

It is Government, itself—our Government,—local, State and Federal.

In the Supreme Court, the eminent Justice Brandeis once said: "Our Government, for good or ill, teaches the whole people by its example. Crime is contagious. If a government becomes a law breaker (the moral law), it breeds contempt for law and invites every man to become a law to himself."

Government has ripped the market on its Bonds. It has cut its debt by devaluing the dollar. It continues to refuse to pay its debt during prosperous times.

Government says it is a crime for a single pickpocket to steal. But it says that A., B. and C., by combining their votes, can pick D.'s pocket and go free.

Government buys votes. It weeps over the civil rights of certain minorities, but punishes no one when labor union monopolies deprive cities and States of transportation, light or power, or when goons terrorize law-abiding citizens and dynamite the homes of working men.

As Brandeis said: "Government breeds contempt for law."

County Is Second In Series E, H Bonds; Report

Ulster county placed second in the sale of both Series E and Series H savings bonds in 1956 in a 22-county area from Plattsburgh to Westchester, it was announced today by former Mayor William F. Edelmuth, chairman of the county savings bonds committee.

The county report showed a plus 34.4 per cent of sales in Series E bonds and a plus 16.3 per cent in the sale of Series E and H bonds.

One of the good points about visiting New York is that I always run into Harry Fishbein of the Mayfair Club and Harry always has a good hand for me.

I will let him tell about this one in his own words.

"Forget about the bidding. I still don't know how to bid the hand and, played from my seat, a heart lead will beat me. Fortunately West opened spades, the suit bid by his partner."

Look at the hands now and see if you can figure out how Mr. Fishbein played the hand.

"I had 11 top tricks and lots of finesses for the twelfth," he said. "I knew East's bidding and was sure that he held the king of hearts and at least six spades for his vulnerable overcall. If he also held the queen of diamonds he would be dead but he did not need that card for his bid. Since I only held two spades and dummy only one diamond, I could not concede a trick somewhere and play for a squeeze. East could break that up completely by playing a diamond. I finally worked out a play that came close to being a sure thing and that I have never seen before.

"I simply cashed my high spades and high diamonds discarding a low heart from dummy. Then I ran dummy's six clubs so that dummy's last three cards were the ace-queen of hearts and the nine of spades. East saw what I was doing and discarded the jack and eight of hearts and held the ten and deuce of spades. It did him no good. I had marked him with six spades at the start, played the ace of hearts and dropped his king."

400 Harbor Crewmen Will Hold Out for Better Terms

New York, March 4 (AP)—Crewmen of 400 harbor craft have decided to continue their fight for better contract terms before settling the port of New York's longest maritime strike which is in its 32nd day.

Four thousand members of Local 333 of the United Marine Division of the National Maritime Union are on strike against Marine Towing and Transportation Employers Assn.

More than three thousand members of the union who attended a meeting yesterday instructed their negotiators by a standing vote to renegotiate for a better settlement than the one proposed.

The meeting adopted a resolution empowering the union negotiators to go back into bargaining with the employer group "for the best deal they can get."

Local President Joseph O'Hare told newsmen after the two-hour closed meeting that the members expressed their "biggest resentment" toward the six-year term of the contract worked out by negotiators with the aid for federal and city mediators.

The union membership had voted Feb. 22 to reject the proposed six-year pact on working conditions, with an 11 per cent wage increase and reopenings on wages after two years.

No Vote Taken

There had been hope that the membership might reconsider yesterday, perhaps by secret ballot, the proposed contract it had turned down. But no such vote was taken.

O'Hare told the meeting that the employers were not willing to give in two years what they had offered in six. He added that the employers had turned down union proposals for a two-year agreement. The union negotiators had tried in talks with management last week to get the same overall conditions in a two-year contract that had been offered over a term of six years.

May Set Time Today

Frank Brown, regional director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said a decision might be made today on a time for resumption of bargaining.

Pre-strike wages ranged from $1.76 an hour for unlicensed personnel to as much as $2.80 an hour for tugboat captains.

The tied-up harbor craft include tugboats, small harbor and coastwide oil tankers and lighters.

Most ocean liners and freighters have been docking and sailing without the aid of tugs. Some of the largest transatlantic liners, however, have docked at Halifax, N. S., and transported their passengers to New York by train.

Expect Assembly

block what he has called "unwarranted" rate increases.

In the Senate, however, the bill is lodged in committee. Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, who is believed to be opposed to the legislation, says the GOP leadership wants to consider the idea a bit longer.

Other Developments

In other weekend developments:

1. Harriman attacked as "grossly unfair" to seasonal industries a GOP proposal for increasing employer contributions to the unemployment insurance fund.

2. Mahoney and Heck urged Harriman to order and investigation of what they called "sinister Communist influences and shocking mismanagement" in the New York City Housing Authority.

New York Telephone seeks permission to raise its monthly charges by these amounts: private home phones, 50 cents; party-line phones, 65 cents; business phones, $1.50.

It has won a re-hearing of its request before the PSC on the basis of a court ruling that the commission was obliged by an old law to consider replacement costs of company property in fixing rates for telephone companies and railroads.

Would Destroy Argument

The Republican-drawn bill up for action tonight would put these utilities on an original-cost footing—the yardstick applied to other utilities—and destroy New York Telephone's chief argument.

A similar measure was passed by the Assembly last year but never got out of Senate Committee.

Brown contended in his memorandum that the bill had been "widely misrepresented." He said the Telephone Company had spent $500,000 on a "propaganda campaign" designed to defeat it.

The PSC counsel also took issue with a company protest that it had been unable to earn its regular $8-a-share dividend in recent years. He said the company had to dip into surplus funds to pay the dividend only because the parent American Telephone and Telegraph had "insisted" that it pay $8 each year.

He said AT&T was "sole owner" of New York Telephone.

Harriman told a union gathering in Troy yesterday that, in proposing a higher jobless-pay levy on employers, Republican leaders "are knowingly hurting the small to benefit the strong."

GOP Proposal

A Republican-controlled joint legislative committee has proposed raising the levy proportionately higher on employers with "negative" accounts—that is those whose employes collect more from the fund than their employers contribute.

The Governor contended that the move would "impose unfair and discriminatory taxes" upon such seasonal employers as the apparel, construction and canning industries.

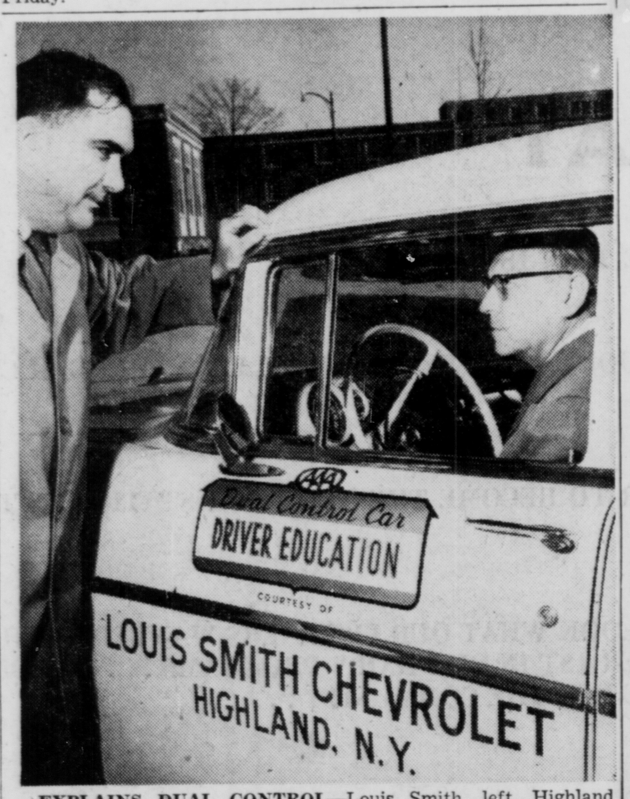

Harriman asserted that higher rates would hurt their competitive position with similar industries in other states.

Mahoney and Heck said in a joint statement that conditions within the New York City Housing Authority threatened to turn public housing projects into "vertical slums and skyscrapers of subversion."

They asked Harriman to order a prompt inquiry by his investigation commission.

MacArthur "Perfect"

New York, March 4 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur is reported in "perfect condition" following a month-long bout with a virus condition. Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's top aide, said yesterday the retired five-star general had recovered from the virus condition that had bothered him since his 77th birthday Jan. 26. Whitney said he and MacArthur, now board chairman of Remington Rand, had made an out-of-town trip Friday.

EXPLAINS DUAL CONTROL—Louis Smith, left, Highland Chevrolet automobile dealer, explains the new dual control driver education automobile to Dr. John H. Jacobson, dean of the State University Teachers College, New Paltz. Mr. Smith delivered the new 1957 auto to the college last week.

Paltz College Gets New Driver Training Auto

A new dual control automobile was delivered last week to the State University Teachers College, New Paltz, by Louis Smith, Highland Chevrolet dealer, to be used in connection with the driver education program at the college.

The 1957 Chevrolet Bel-Aire has a dual control brake and dual acceleration control to enable the driver education instructor to maintain control of the automobile.

Sixteen college students are using the new automobile at the present time for driver training under the supervision of Dr. Loren D. Campbell, director of driver education.

Chicago, 2nd Largest City, 120 Years Old

Chicago, March 4 (AP)—Chicago, the nation's second largest city, is 120 years old today.

The Illinois Legislature approved Chicago's city charter on March 4, 1837. The city boundaries were fixed over what today is mostly a business district—an area of 10 square miles.

Chicago, ranking next to New York city in population, now covers an area of more than 213 square miles. Recent estimates put the city's population at nearly four million.

A battery of the 33rd Division, Illinois National Guard, is scheduled to fire a 120-round salute in Grant Park, near TNE loop, as part of the anniversary observance.

Redeemer Church Marks Pastor's 10th Anniversary

The Rev. David C. Gaise of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer was honored by his congregation on the 10th anniversary of his pastorate Sunday evening in the assembly room of the church on Wurts and Rogers streets.

An informal surprise "Family Night" program followed a covered dish supper for the more than 250 members and friends of the congregation who were present. Pastors who participated in the program were the Rev. Morris Skinner of First Lutheran Church; Albany, the Rev. Paul Henry of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Red Hook, who gave the invocation.

Music Provided

Mrs. Doris Blatter and Miss Dolores Albrecht, accompanied by Mrs. Lester Decker, organist of the church, provided vocal selections.

A peek at Redeemer's family album was furnished by a collection of old photographs which were projected on a screen. The large assemblage viewed pictures of the founders of the church, former pastors and leaders, as well as snapshots of the Gaise family.

Frederick DuBois, president of the church council, introduced Harry S. Hutton, Fred Lang and Walter Riggins, who, with Mr. DuBois and the late Dewey Hornbeck, comprised the pulpit committee which had recommended that the Rev. Mr. Gaise be called to Redeemer in 1947.

Commends Congregation

Mr. DuBois expressed the congregation's appreciation for the outstanding leadership, service and devotion demonstrated by the pastor during the past 10 years and presented a purse to the pastor and Mrs. Gaise as an expression of gratitude and esteem.

In his response, the Rev. Mr. Gaise commended the congregation for its loyalty and cooperation in maintaining its position at the forefront in the Eastern Conference of the New York and New England Synod and urged increasing efforts in advancing the work of the church.

The program, presided over by toastmaster William Daum, was concluded with the singing of a hymn and prayer offered by the Rev. Dr. Skinner.

Saunders Hearing Slated Tuesday

Lawrence J. Saunders, 20, of Box 220, Trailer Haven, Kingston, who was arrested Sunday morning on charges of speeding and driving while intoxicated, was released in $200 bail pending a hearing at 7 p. m. Tuesday before Justice of the Peace Francis E. Palen, Jr., of Port Ewen.

Saunders was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Thomas Mayone and Michael Stuper of the Ulster county sheriff's office after a chase on Route 9W through Port Ewen, it was reported.

As he proceeded north on 9W he attempted to turn off into Salem street, missed the turn and hit three white poles, according to the report.

Time of the mishap and arrest was listed as 3:15 a. m.

Ives Makes Comment

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Sen. Irving Ives (R.-N. Y.) says "absolute preference" in distribution of Niagara Falls power would be contrary to "the law and the realities in New York state." An absolute preference provision would give municipally owned electric systems and rural electric cooperatives priority on power. Ives is a sponsor of a bill that asks congressional approval for a 600-million-dollar hydro-electric development on the Niagara river. The New York Power Authority would build and operate the project. Gov. Harriman of New York is supporting a Democratic bill containing a preference clause. Ives said yesterday that the Power Authority "could never sell bonds to build the project" if absolute preference were involved.

Tot's Body Is

at the New Jersey police laboratory. The dog was sent to a veterinarian for tests to determine how long it had gone without food.

Ironically, the object of the biggest search in the history of this southern New Jersey community of 5,213, was found only two blocks from her home, and only 50 feet from where Mrs. Mary Frietta last saw her playing with the puppy of her own daughter in front of the Frietta home.

Police Version

Police told this story of the discovery of the body:

Maria went with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Vecchia, to visit the ranch house the Vecchias expect to move into shortly. Maria skipped around the house, finally entering the master bedroom. With natural child's curiosity she pulled open the closet door. Out leaped the puppy overjoyed to see his mistress. Maria screamed to her aunt who rushed in and saw the little body huddled in the corner.

Police today sought the answers to a number of puzzling questions in the case such as why the dog didn't bark or make some sort of noise when searchers poked noisily about the house, and did anyone look in the closet where the body was found. Investigators believe Mary Jane was alive when she entered the closet.

Many Joined Hunt

The discovery of the body climaxed a week-long search in which local police, the FBI, state police, neighbors, relatives and friends roamed throughout the community combing every nook and cranny for the missing child. She was believed kidnapped. There were the usual crank calls, one demanding $500 for Mary Jane's safe return. It was a gruesome ending for the Barkers, who never got to celebrate their little girl's fourth birthday last Wednesday, two days after she disappeared.

Ave Is Scored On Apartment Decontrol Plan

New York, March 4 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman and State Rent Commissioner Robert C. Weaver came under attack yesterday for their opposition to a Republican plan to decontrol $150-or-more a month apartments as they became vacant.

Robert S. Fougner, attorney for the metropolitan fair rent control committee which represents large real estate interests in New York city, termed the two state officials as "alarmists."

Fougner estimated in a statement that only 9,000 New York city apartments would be affected each year if the GOP rent decontrol proposal was approved. He termed as "patiently ridiculous and absurd" a statement attributed to Weaver that 500,000 apartments would be affected within two years.

He also criticized Harriman for calling the decontrol proposal "vicious" and an invitation for unscrupulous rent increases. He said Harriman cast a "miserable reflection" on the ethics of landlords.

Paltz Honor Society Offers Gift Pictures

At the Honor Society induction at New Paltz Central School recently the members of the class of 1955 presented to the school three pictures in memory of their classmate Ellen Ruth Nerz, who died in an automobile accident May 26, 1956.

In making the presentation Robert Hicks explained that Ellen's unselfish devotion of her energies to her work served as an inspiration to all her classmates and that the members of the class hope that the pictures will be of some inspirational value to the present students of New Paltz Central School and those of the future. He said the class is grateful for the privilege of making this gesture and hopes that it will in some way help to perpetuate the memory of their well loved classmate.

While in school Ellen was a member of the Student Council, and the Honor Society. She was the editor of the Student Handbook, represented the school at Girls' State and was active in the choir.

Frank Bugar, supervising principal, accepted the pictures in behalf of the school.

P-TA Meeting Hears Committee Reports

West Hurley, March 2—The P-TA meeting held Tuesday evening at the West Hurley School heard the following committee reports.

Library Committee has offered the teenage group the money for an orchestra for a dance at such time as they decide they want it. The library will be open following P-TA meetings in the future, for the convenience of those who would like books. The books will be checked out for six days or 13 days, so as to fall due on Monday nights when the library is open for adults. Teenager group chairman, Mrs. Ira Saxe reported on the success of this group.

The president, Mrs. David Davidson, reported on the New York P-TA convention. Mrs. Jerome Kemmerer reported the pre-school group is also working successfully.

Since February is the 60th anniversary for P-TA, in place of the usual floral arrangement, a birthday cake was decorated with four candles representing the years this chapter has been in existence. At the candle lighting ceremony, each of the past presidents participated. First president was Robert Nussbaum, second Jerome Kemmerer, whose candle was lighted by Mrs. Jerome Kemmerer in his absence, third president was Alton Boyce, the fourth candle for the year to come, was lighted by James McCarty who has done so much for the continuing success of P-TA.

The program for the evening was a movie, "A Family Affair," which told about a crisis arising with a teenager, and how a social worker in a Family Guidance Service helps the parents come face to face with their personal problems. The movie was followed by a six minute buzz session with the parents divided into three groups —one to discuss "What is the basis of the mother's insecurity," the second, "How could a family with similar problems find help in this county" and the third, "How much freedom should a child be given at age six, age 16." Each group reported their conclusions. A lively general discussion of the questions followed. A count of parents present from each room was taken and Mr. McCarty's 7 and 8 grade won the attendance banner. The next meeting is scheduled for April 30 rather than the usual fourth Tuesday which occurs during Easter vacation.

Red China Tries Hard to Coax Formosa Over

Hong Kong, March 4 (AP) — Red China is waging a "peace offensive" to bring Formosa inside the bamboo curtain.

Sporadic stories in the Communist press outside China and propaganda broadcasts from within appear to be part of a major campaign to win public backing for Communist annexation of the Nationalist held island.

Although Chiang Kai-Shek's regime has made one angry denial after another, the Communist press has reported "secret negotiations" between Peiping and members of Chiang's high command and quoted favorable comments from so-called neutral Chinese.

Hong Kong's Red-run new Evening Post claims Paris was the scene of clandestine merger talks between anonymous members of the warring parties. It pictures the Nationalists withdrawing from the United Nations in favor of a Communist delegation led by Vice Premier Soong Ching-Ling, Chiang's sister-in-law. And Chiang would be given the post of vice premier in a "unified China."

The Nationalist government called the report "the most shameless piece of fabrication ever produced by the Communist propaganda mill" and denied even the possibility of such talks.

But the rumors are becoming so repetitious that some outside Chinese are beginning to believe there may be some foundation for them.

Peiping once waged an annexation-by-force campaign, but dropped it last summer.

Two Students Are Fatally Hurt in Roscoe Collision

Roscoe, March 4 (AP)—Two Cornell University students, one a nephew of a State Supreme Court justice, were killed yesterday when their auto and a tractor-trailer collided. Two other students were injured.

Killed were Frank B. Reynolds, 23, of Cold Spring Harbor, said by state police to be a nephew of Justice Walter B. Reynolds, and Miss Danielle F. Mamboury, 20, of Rocky River, Ohio.

Injured, but not seriously, were Stephen D. Bailey, 22, of 13 S. Lake avenue, Ithaca, the driver, and William F. Torrey, 21, of (1 Mrapston place) Rye, who was hospitalized at Callicoon.

Not injured were another student passenger, William Tuck, 21, of Syracuse, and the truck driver, Richard Zwart Jr., 41, of Middletown. The accident occurred on Route 17, state police said, when the car skidded on a curve and collided with the truck.

State police said the students were returning to the campus at Ithaca after attending a wedding on Long Island.

Accidents Cost About 10 Billion During Past Year

New York, March 4 (AP)—The dollar cost of accidents is rising—one estimate puts last year's total at 10 billion dollars.

It includes damages, benefit payments, loss of pay, loss of production, doctor and hospital bills.

Perhaps half of that can be charged to highway mishaps.

With the big season for taking to the road just ahead, safety officials have their fingers crossed on what this year's toll may be.

Some pin their hopes on the new national highway building program cutting part of the toll in the future. Others fear that the driver population and the number of cars will increase even faster.

Motor vehicle fatalities in 1956 brought a record 45,000 life insurance death claims, the Institute of Life Insurance says. Payment of death benefits came to 97 million dollars. This was 3,000 more claims and seven million more in benefits than was paid in 1955.

Industry Mishaps Costly

On-the-job accidents cost industry and workers about 3½ billion dollars last year, according to the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co. of Boston. But off-the-job accidents cost much more—nearly 7½ billions. Highway accidents are included in both categories.

The institute estimates there was a 10 per cent increase last year over the figures for economic loss from accidents shown by the National Safety Council for 1955. Part of the rise is due to an increase in the number of accidents themselves, and part reflects the growing costs of medical care and of repairs or replacements of vehicles and machinery.

Stress Caution

The fact their workers seem to sustain more accidents causing time and production loss while away from their jobs than while at work has spurred a number of companies to set up safety classes, urging precautions at recreation, around the home, on the road.

Increased leisure time and higher incomes take more people afield these days—and all too often into danger.

The institute's estimate of 10 billion dollar accident cost, "a total economic loss", compares with the outlook for federal and state highway construction this year coming to 11 billion dollars, a cost to the taxpayers, but not a total loss.

The institute believes this may help cut one kind of accident toll. But it believes that the growing scale of dollar loss, as well as the horror of the number of lives lost, will force federal and state legislators to "give more and more attention to accident reduction at government levels."

How to make people more careful, the institute doesn't venture to say, although it is full of hints for the individual himself. But it believes business and government soon must get really alarmed about the trend.

Patrolman Is Hero In Harlem Fire

New York, March 4 (AP) — A mounted policeman jumped off his horse yesterday, raced into a burning Harlem apartment and rescued three children trapped on the fourth floor.

Patrolman Edward J. Kohli also was credited with arousing the rest of the building's occupants by knocking on apartment doors with his nightstick.

Sreams drew him to a fourth-floor apartment. Inside he found Connie White, 2, and her brothers, William, 3, and DeWitt, 4. Their mother, Mrs. Joan White, had left them temporarily to do some shopping.

Kohli and the children were treated for smoke inhalation as a precautionary measure. Cause of the blaze was undetermined. Damage was slight, firemen said.

A passerby held Kohli's horse while he did his rescue work.

Nurses 'Dream House'

New York, March 4 (AP)—Montefiore Hospital, bothered by an inability to recruit night nurses, yesterday opened a $400,000 low-rent "dream house" apartment building to especially attract them. "Most hospitals have very little trouble getting nurses for work in the day," explained Mrs. Elizabeth Staats, director of nursing at the Bronx Hospital, "but it's very difficult to get night nurses." Twenty-nine of the 40 apartments in the three-story structure have been reserved for night nurses. For $35 monthly rent, each occupant will have a private studio apartment completely furnished with a living room, kitchen, dining space and bath.

Honey for Sobriety

Geneva, N. Y., March 4 (AP)—The New York State Agriculture Experiment Station says that a tablespoon or two of honey will make a drunken person sober. The same treatment may be helpful in routing a hangover, the station reports. The agriculture unit said in its current news bulletin that the sugars in the honey would cause a chemical breakdown of the alcohol in the system.

Mrs. Grace Coolidge Seriously Ill, Report

Northampton, Mass., March 4 (AP)—The condition of Mrs. Grace Coolidge, 78, widow of President Calvin Coolidge, was reported as serious today in Cooley Dickinson Hospital.

The one-time first lady entered the hospital Monday with what her doctor described as a "cardiac and kidney failure."

In recent years Mrs. Coolidge has lived quietly, taking a keen interest in a local school for the deaf and her favorite baseball team, the Boston Red Sox.

Her husband died 24 years ago.

Baker Held on Charge In Death of Wife

New York, March 4 (AP)—A Brooklyn baker, accused of beating his wife to death with a hammer, was ordered held in jail yesterday pending grand jury action on a homicide charge.

Stanislaw Bryk, 35, was arraigned before Magistrate Harry Serper in Brooklyn weekend court. Asked if he wanted a lawyer, Bryk replied:

"I want to die. I want to die today. When my wife die, I die."

Bryk, a Polish refugee, bludgeoned his German-born wife, Elizabeth, 27, Saturday while their four children looked on, authorities said. He fled to a friend's house but was captured minutes later.

Bryk told police that his wife had been unfaithful. The children, who range in age from infancy to 7 years, are being cared for by welfare authorities.

College Speaker Says Brotherhood Is Way to Peace

World problems should be solved in a spirit of brotherhood, Everett Clinchey, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, told the students and faculty of the State University Teachers College at New Paltz last week.

Mr. Clinchey spoke at the second College Convocation of the year held in the college auditorium and his address was in commemoration of World Brotherhood Week which was celebrated February 17-23.

Ike Film Shown

A film was shown, picturing President Eisenhower speaking to a special White House conference last September when the President announced his "People to People" program for the purpose of providing ways and means to build new roads to international understanding.

Mr. Clinchey said that there still will be evil people in the world, but out of tension and conflict comes progress. "To be successful," he said, "we must try to keep the conflict on a high level and try to solve our problems in a spirit of brotherhood." He emphasized that the results should bring into being a new stage in civilization through partnership with the Creator in a new age in the family of man.

Other Speakers

Three foreign students and educators who are now studying at New Paltz also spoke on concepts of world brotherhood. The speakers included: Thruong Van Cao, from Vietnam; Miss Helen Apostolou from Greece; and Willy deGeyndt from Belgium.

President Wm. J. Haggerty presided.

The year 1816 is remembered as "the year without a summer."

Faces Homicide In Wife's Death

New York, March 4 (AP)—Instead of leaving today on a planned "second honeymoon," a 55-year-old parking lot operator was charged with strangling his wife.

Peter Mangini walked into a Bronx police station yesterday, authorities said, and blurted out: "I just killed my wife." A police car was dispatched to Mangini's home.

There officers found his wife, Anne, 45, half-clad and sprawled across a bed. Red welts about her throat indicated she had been strangled.

The husband was later charged with homicide.

Police gave this account:

Mangini and his wife of 21 years attended a wedding reception Saturday night but began quarrelling. Mangini said she had danced "with too many other men" and neglected him.

The argument continued when they awoke the next morning. "She slapped me and I choked her with my hands," Mangini related. He then twisted a metal dog leash around her neck.

Mangini said he and his wife had recently separated but decided to give it another try. When he gave himself up, Mangini had $800 and two airline tickets to Miami for what he said was a planned "second honeymoon."

Mangini, who is part owner of a parking lot in the Bronx, told police he wandered around for an hour and a half before he decided to surrender.

Cementon Resident Has 82nd Birthday

Appreciative citizens of the little community of Cementon today conferred "Queen for a Day" honors on their oldest resident, Mary Elizabeth Speenburgh, who is celebrating her 82nd birthday anniversary.

"Aunt Mamie," as she is affectionately known to her many friends, has resided at Cementon for the past 53 years, and during those years devoted much of her life to the welfare of the community.

For more than half a century she has always been prepared to assist her friends and neighbors. On all occasions, she gave unstintingly of her time and energy, aiding mothers and their newborn children, taking care of the needy, feeding the hungry and caring for the sick.

Her friends haven't forgotten her. Grateful Cementonians contributed towards a drive in the past several weeks to secure sufficient funds to make "Aunt Mamie's" anniversary a joyous occasion. She is being presented with a handsome rocker in which she can enjoy her declining years. Then, too, a beautiful corsage, birthday cake, flowers and other gifts are also helping make the event a memorable one for her.

A native of Athens, Greene county, "Aunt Mamie" was born on March 4, 1875, the daughter of Charles and Marie Gardner Lucas. On September 19, 1893, she was married to Orville Speenburgh of Wynantskill, who died on July 20, 1948. He was retired from his position as custodian at the Cementon Public School.

The Speenburghs had three children. Harry LeRoy, a veteran of World War 1, died at Aberdeen, Maryland, in 1918, during the influenza epidemic. One of "Aunt Mamie's" most treasured mementos is a Certificate of Appreciation she received from the Greene County Board of Supervisors, dated October 9, 1919, following the death of her soldier son.

"Aunt Mamie" has two daughters, Mrs. Laura May Winch of Mentor, Ohio, and Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Murray of Cementon; seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Three of the grandchildren, Thomas Murray, Jr., and Sandra and Mary Elizabeth Murray, reside in Cementon with her.

A member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church at West Camp for more than 50 years, "Aunt Mamie" was also an active member of the Cementon Auxiliary No. 1 and West Camp Auxiliary No. 2 of the church until recently, when failing health compelled her to give up some of her activities.

An ardent Republican throughout the years, "Aunt Mamie" always insists on exercising what she considers her privilege and duty at the polls. She possesses a wonderful sense of humor and is very agile, although her eyesight is failing.

Today, "Aunt Mamie" is the fairest of them all, as she reigns honorarily over the little community that will never forget her progressive spirit nor her many charitable deeds.

ACCEPTING PAYMENT FOR HIS TIME

A reader explains; "My husband is very handy and as a result whenever any of our close friends or members of the family need any repairs done around the house my husband is always asked to do them. He has always been very generous about this and has never accepted payment for any of these jobs, outside, of course, of what he spends for any materials that he has to buy. Once or twice he has been offered payment for his services but he has refused to take it. He does not think it proper for him to accept payment for these favors. I disagree with him and think it only fair that he be paid for his time. Will you please give us your opinion?"

If the people who offer it are well off, it would not be improper for him to take it—especially if the job takes a good deal of his time and is one that they would otherwise have to pay a professional man to do. But if the job requires little time and effort on his part he would not accept payment for it.

After Brother Gives Bride Away

Dear Mrs. Post: My brother is giving me away because my father is not living. After he leaves me at the chancel is he expected to take his place next to my mother—who will otherwise be alone in the front pew—or ought he take his place beside his wife and two children severad rows behind?

Answer: He sits on the aisle seat next to your mother, but his wife and the children should be given places in this same pew on the other side of your mother—or else they should sit on the aisle in the pew directly behind her.

Smoking Between Courses

Dear Mrs. Post: Do you consider it proper to smoke cigarettes between courses during the service of a dinner?

Answer: No. I think it bad form. But if a hostess chooses to put cigarettes and matches on her table, guests are entirely correct in considering that they have her permission to smoke as soon as they please.

How should the men of a small wedding party be dressed? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. It is imperative that the board receive the district's feeling in respect to the shortage of classrooms as it relates to the state minimum requirements of the 7th and 8th grades, its curriculum and facilities which are presently not met, the board explained.

AHRC Holds County Meeting; Future Programs Announced

"The purpose of the Association for the Help of Retarded Children is to further research, diagnosis, child guidance, parent and public education and legislation in behalf of the mentally handicapped."

This statement was made by Paul Callahan, president of the Sullivan county chapter of the AHRC before a county-wide meeting held in the Ellenville Central School recently.

Tracing the history of the association, Mr. Callahan related the story of a parent, who, faced with the problem of rearing a mentally retarded child, placed an ad in the paper appealing for assistance from other parents facing the same difficulty. From this small ad grew the move than 24 chapters located in New York state alone.

The Sullivan county chapter was founded in 1949.

Mr. Callahan also paid tribute to Miss Dina Tabickman, teacher, for her tireless effort and zeal in AHRC work in Sullivan county.

Miss Tabickman also addressed the group and described procedures within her classroom and the program used.

A report of legislative proposals was given by Mrs. Alexander Chepeleff. She reported that new legislation that will be introduced will include items of the AHRC program proposed by the Joint Legislative Committee headed by Senator Earl Brydges; items proposed by the departments of education and mental hygiene; and items proposed by the state AHRC. Members were urged to advise their legislators of their opinions. Mrs. Chepeleff distributed fliers with full information concerning pending legislation.

It was announced by Mrs. Walter Furman, Kingston chapter president, that the State Convention will be held at the Lincoln Hotel in Long Beach, L. I., on April 26-28. Nassau county will be the host chapter. Local officers and county committee chairmen will attend.

Also on the program is the fourth annual State Teachers' Conference sponsored by AHRC on May 3, 4 and 5 at the Carnegie International Center in New York city. Dr. Ignacy I. Goldberg, educational consultant for the national group will be the guest speaker.

Elected to the nominating committee for the Kingston chapter were Benedict Todar, chairman, Mrs. Dorothy Buehring, Mrs. Donald Weaver and Fred Craft.

The chapter's annual meeting will be held at the George Washington School on June 5. Annual election of officers will be held and a report of the year's progress will be given.

The Rev. Roy Adelberg of Stone Ridge will be chairman.

NARCE Meeting Slated Saturday

The next regular meeting of the National Association of Retired Civil Employes will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday, March 9, at the YWCA, 209 Clinton avenue, it was announced today by William J. Cipolli Sr., publicity officer of Local 461.

In calling attention to recent developments of interest to its membership, Mr. Cipolli pointed out that the local must be "ever alert and keep hammering away."

New Members Urged

His statement follows:

"I suppose it is tiresome to be reading of our continual drive for new members, but this is of vital importance, one being the high mortality rate among our members which can be fully realized in our age group makes it important for replacement.

"As I was not able to be at our last meeting due to illness, I have been informed by some of our members that they had received some sort of questionnaire from one of our representatives. From what I gathered, this was not well taken by some of them. It sounded more or less like an application for home relief. We are not asking for this sort of help. If this individual would have attended our meeting at a previous date by invitation, he would have had firsthand opportunity to observe and learn our wants and purposes.

Friends in Washington

"It is a good thing that we have so many fine friends in Washington who know our purpose. It is a matter of record which can be had without asking these questions of what the individual recipient receives. This is published in the current Monthly Retirement Life. Why this run around is beyond me. This is just a note to inform those in our country what goes on, so perhaps when election comes again we may have our own questionnaire to hand out.

"Have you realized the jump in the cost of living? Only recently there was a bill entered and passed practically overnight to give our ex-presidents and their widows annual pensions. Were they given questionnaires? I doubt it! I don't believe there was any special fund set for them and no doubt it will come out of our budget. Now, I am not saying they should not get this pension. I am only trying to point out the fallacy of the whole set up. Why do we who are far more needful of an increase fight so hard and wait so long for something we actually paid for—the creation of this fund? Come on, retirees, help us and yourself in this cause.

Urge Women Join

"A word to widows—This has been a rather controversial topic, one of the items we have on our agenda. Why should not those widows prior to 1948 receive benefit after the passing of their husbands? I can say that this issue is a live one and it appears that we will become successful in this matter if only we can gather more of you women to join up with us. It looks very encouraging, ladies. The rest is up to you. Help yourself by helping us!

"Hospitalization—In our current monthly issue it is heartening to note that our national body has been successful in obtaining this most wanted need. As you know it is impossible for most of us to obtain this benefit at our age unless we pay an exorbitant fee. It appears that this can be done regardless of age or condition at a very nominal cost, really worth while."

"Don't forget, good people, there are many bills pending which will give us up to 30 per cent, but we must be ever alert and keep on hammering away if we are to accomplish this purpose."

If either Gray or White comes, Black refuses. Also, if Gray is present, Brown won't come unless his Bluman does.

If Huey gives a dinner party and invites everyone, and Bluman is the first to appear, who else will be there?

Publisher Says Knowland Should Be Off UN Group

Washington, March 4 (AP)—A Colorado newspaper publisher today said Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California is making "dangerously oversimplified and distorted" attacks on the United Nations.

Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of the Denver Post, said he believes "strongly" that Knowland should be removed from the U. S. delegation to the UN.

Knowland, in a Feb. 11 speech at Georgetown University here, listed what he said were "five major defects" which could lead to destruction of the UN. Hoyt issued a point-by-point rebuttal of Knowland's criticisms.

Last Hope For Survival

Hoyt's address was prepared for a luncheon session of the conference of national organizations called by the American Assn. for the United Nations.

The Denver publisher said the UN "has enjoyed magnificent success notwithstanding organizational flaws and fundamental weaknesses," and "is still the best and perhaps last good hope for human survival."

He said U. S. influence in the UN "would be immeasurably stronger, and our position in the world would be infinitely better understood, if our delegates to that body spoke in greater harmony both inside the United Nations and outside it." He added:

"We all know of the United Nations' major and minor defects . . . but those defects and imperfections will not soon, or perhaps ever, be corrected by illuminating them with unfair emphasis and casual distortion for whatever possible—not excluding that of political ambition."

Gives Statistics

Knowland listed the Soviet Union's abuse of the veto power as one of his points. Hoyt agreed such abuse is a 'handicap." But he said Knowland "gives no recognition" to success in circumventing the veto through general assembly action.

Hoyt said the U. S. share of the 1956 UN net budget came to only $16,100,000—and the total U. S. bill was "equal to what 10 hours of World War 2 cost us." Knowland had said some UN members were unwilling to share the UN costs on an equitable basis "while insisting on a full and equal voice in the making of decisions."

Hoyt said the UN 'is not a the final instrument for preserving the peace nor will it ever be." But he said "it is a fact that the UN has successfully halted wars, delayed wars and helped to terminate them . . ."

Garner Worries About Spending

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Former Vice President John Nance Garner, contending that "we spend too much money," says the President and Congress "are both responsible."

The heavy spending is the only thing about current affairs that worries him, Garner said in a copyrighted interview published today in the magazine U. S. News & World Report. Garner was interviewed at his Uvalde, Tex., home where he retired 16 years ago after 30 years in Congress and eight years as vice president.

Remembering those years, Garner said that "sometimes we get appropriations to make ourselves popular. I wish they would quit that."

And he said President Eisenhower, as "the final author of the budget," should have proposed a much smaller figure and "let Congress then, if necessary, do the job of increasing it."

No Suggested Cuts

But Garner suggested no specific cuts. Asked if the government "is trying to do too many things for people," he replied that "if it's from the standpoint of taking care of the weak by the strong, no . . . we're not spending too much for them."

Taxes are not too high, he said. Instead, "you reverse that: The appropriations demanding the taxes are too high. You only levy taxes to pay for what the Congress has done or told you to do, told the executive."

Garner reminisced extensively in the interview, but replied to most other questions on current topics that he had been away from Washington too long to know the answers.

His comments on spending coincided with a series of other demands for cuts in Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 spending budget for the year starting July 1.

House Republican Leader Joseph Martin (R-Mass.) said on a filmed television show yesterday that the proposed budget "is unbearable to the American people."

To Discuss Ceiling

The House Rules Committee scheduled a hearing tomorrow on a proposal by Reps. Hiestand (R-Calif.) and Ray (R-N. Y.) for a 65 billion dollar ceiling on spending. They would provide that all revenues in excess of that amount go to reduce the national debt.

Hiestand said "The Voice of the People" is demanding a cut, and Rep. Pelly (R-Wash.) said "we're revolting against the amount of the budget, not against the president."

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said in an interview that "the people back home" may force Congress to make some cuts.

Sen. Ives (R-N. Y.) said in a recorded broadcast for New York radio stations that he too has received "an astonishing amount of mail" on the subject, most of it in opposition to the higher spending figure.

He said he thinks Congress "should, can and will" reduce spending "but I don't think the cuts will be substantial." And he added that he doesn't think "the weight of public opinion" would support a heavy slash.

Saugerties, Rondout Valley Set for UCAL Playoff Tuesday

Showdown Ready For Onteora Gym

The time-worn expression 'history repeats itself' will be proven once again tomorrow (Tuesday) when Saugerties High faces Rondout Valley Central in a playoff for the UCAL basketball championship at Onteora Central's court. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

For about a year ago to almost the day the two teams battled in their first historic playoff on the same Boiceville gym. On that occasion, Rondout (which was then Kerhonkson High) won 61-49 to capture its first league title.

11-1 UCAL Marks

It's common knowledge locally that the clubs ended the season tied for first place with 11-1 records. Their losses were to each other by close scores. Rondout won the first game meeting 55-52 at home and Saugerties came away back to take the second game, 60-58.

There is very little to chose between the clubs. Even their overall records are almost the same. Rondout has just the better mark, winning 17 and dropping just one for the top mark in the Hudson Valley. Saugerties finished at 16-2. Its other loss was a 22-point setback to strong Arlington.

The game is expected to feature a scoring duel between two of the top centers in the loop, the Sawyers' 6-7 giant Austin Kerin and Rondout's muscular six-footer John Mustion.

Mustion Holds Edge

Mustion outscored Kerin in the game at Saugerties 32 to 27, but the latter fouled out early in the last period. In the first meeting Kerin had slightly the best of it in points, 17-16. Both are tremendous rebounders.

Saugerties' other top player is Billy Zielman. The speedy forward is a steady double figure scorer and was the hero of Saugerties win over Rondout, scoring two fouls in the final minute of play. Other stalwarts include Don Whitaker, Don Mormile, Jim Erceg and Skip Kugelman. Larry Risdal is the No. 1 reserve.

Mustion Lone Stickout

After Mustion, Rondout has no other stickout performer. Bill Smith, Tom Gilman, Art Stockin and John's brother Bill are all solid players who are used to playing a full game without relief.

Rondout's top reserve is Joe Sciarrino. Behind him are Bill Stine, Fred Wustrau, Bob Decker and Bruce Barthal.

A SRO crowd of more than 1,000 is expected to cram their way into the beautiful Onteora gym. All seats have been sold and there will be no sale at the doors.

John (Chick) Meehan is the Rondout coach and Bud Smith the Saugerties' mentor.

Merchants Take 1-Game Lead in HVBL

Win Four of Six Over Weekend; Joneses Second

League Standing

	Won	Lost
Midd. Merchants	51	24
Jones Dairy	50	25
Tony's Pizzeria	49	26
Channel Master	49	26

It's down to the point of no return in the Hudson Valley bowling league's torrid scramble for the 1956-57 pennant.

Middletown Merchants moved one game ahead of Jones Dairy over the weekend, winning four of six games with Tony's Pizzeria and Ellenville Merchants, while the Dairymen dropped a pair to Forst Formosts.

In the climactic showdown next Saturday night, the Merchants travel to Channel Master; Jones Dairy visits Walden Peppys and the Pizzeria hosts Ellenville Shanahans.

The Merchants have 51 wins and 24 losses. Jones Dairy has 50 wins and Tony's Pizzeria and Channel Master are tied, two games off the pace, at 49 and 26.

Pizzeria Hits 3107

Pizzeria rallied from a 1032-1003 loss in the opener to eke out a 1026-1024 equalizer in the middle set, then overwhelmed the Merchants, 1078-926 in the finale. That added up to 3107 for Tony's and 2982 for the Merchants.

Jones Dairy was unable to untrack itself in the first two sets against Forsts, losing 978-965 and 954-902, before exploding with a 1060 finale to salvage the third set. They outpinned the Packers, 2927 to 2895.

Shufeldt Rolls 671

George Shufeldt sparked the Pizzeria with a 671 aggregate on games of 200, 215 and 256. Harold Broskie furnished 226-202-225 for 653 and Phil Versace posted 247-615, including a solid 10-pin fill to insure the second-game victory. Joe Torelli fired 249-218-211 for 678 and Bert Zimmer cracked 200-573 for the Merchants.

Jackie Ferraro paced the Dairymen with 203-255 and 654. Tom Carlino unloaded 215-211-616 for Formosts.

Channel Master's Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer hit 213-583 to pace the Channels to a 2-1 victory over GI Joe's Express. Best GI series was Bill Lawrence's 214-570.

Baton Rouge Golf Crown To Demaret

Baton Rouge, La., March 4 (AP) — Debonair Jimmy Demaret, long known as a snappy dresser, has a new golf style, but the same winning habit.

The 45-year-old Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., veteran conquered miserable weather and the driving finish of Australian Peter Thomson yesterday to walk off with the $2,000 first prize in the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open.

Demaret shot a one-under-par 71 for a 278 total after 72 holes. Thomson had 70 and 279 to take the $1,500 second money.

Change in Style

"I made a slight change in my style before starting on this tour," Demaret said, "and I'm hitting the ball better than ever."

His steady sub-par play has placed him high among money winners in the last three PGA tournaments. Demaret ranks fifth among money winners for 1957, despite skipping several tournaments, taking in $5,364 in PGA events.

He picked up another $2,000 first prize in the non-PGA Thunderbird Invitational at Palm Springs, Calif.

In yesterday's final round, the 6,450-yard, par 72 Baton Rouge Country Club course was waterlogged after a Saturday night rainstorm.

3-Way Tie

Three strokes back of Thomson were Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and Gardner Dickinson of Panama City, Fla., with 282.

Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich., second day leader, was tied with Lloyd Mangrum of Apple Valley, Calif., with 283. Both shot 72 yesterday.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis had a par 72 for 284.

Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y., 1957 top money winner, and defending champion Shelley Mayfield of Westbury, N. Y., were tied at 285. Ford shot 70, while Mayfield had 75.

William Murphy Made National LL Director

Ray Radel Elected Executive Veep

William Murphy, manager of the 1956 championship Shults Paint Indians, has been elected director in a sweeping change and reshuffling of National Little League personnel for 1957.

The elections and designations were the result of recently-granted autonomy by the Little League Association of Kingston. The National circuit, located in the downtown section of the city, is moving toward complete autonomy.

Radel Is Director

Raymond Radel, a vice-president of the LLA and as such director of the National League, has been designated executive vice-president in charge of the league.

Eddie Baker was re-elected assistant to the director. Other designations were: Eddie Hofbauer, secretary ;Emity Woods, treasurer; Joseph Cavano Jr., scorekeeper; Joseph Bodie, groundskeeper.

The managerial setup was nearly completed with Louis DeCicco named to handle the Braves. Charlie Diers has accepted the Tigers managerial post and Joseph Cavano Sr. is expected to pilot the Indians. The Pirates are without a manager at the moment but a selection will be made in the near future.

To Meet March 29

The elections were announced at a general meeting of 1956 officers, managers and other personnel. The parents were invited to the meeting and responded in large numbers, particularly the mothers.

Ray Radel reported great enthusiasm among the parents and said the women volunteered some ideas to raise money for the league treasury.

Another meeting has been scheduled for Monday, March 25 and a larger attendance is expected.

Howe's Goal Ties Rangers

By the Associated Press

Detroit's Gordie Howe—the one man production line — is responsible for the Red Wings three-point bulge today in the race for the National Hockey League title.

Howe's 39th goal of the season, coming at 5:52 of the third period of the game with New York last night, gave the Wings a 1-1 tie with the fourth-place Rangers.

In other games, third-place Boston moved within three points of runner-up Montreal with a 5-2 thumping of the Canadiens, and Toronto and Chicago battled to a 0-0 standoff.

Detroit snapped a four-game losing streak on Howe's tally which came after Ted Lindsay had just missed a goal. Norm Ullman picked up Lindsay's rebound but shot it over the cage and Howe took it from there and converted. New York's score came off the stick of Andy Hebenton.

Shaub Rescues Maroon

KHS Wrestlers Tie Otsville Squad, 18-18

Marv (Moose) Shaub's decision over Jim Walker in the unlimited class match enabled the Kingston High wrestling team to tie the Otisville Training School for Boys, 18-18, in a varsity tussle Friday at Otisville.

The Maroons, after blowing a big early lead, were down by three points before Shaub rescued them in the final match. Walker put up little or no resistance in the bout and was contented to lose by a verdict. A pin by last year's All-DUSO would have given KHS five points and the match, but Walker played it cool and just laid on his stomach until time had elapsed.

In the jayvee match, the Maroons came out on top, 11-8. The five Maroon grapplers were making their first starts of the season.

The results:

Varsity

117 Class — Herb Meyer (K) pinned Russ Hadley (16 seconds).
123 Class — Bob Barnett (K) pinned Jim Cornish (1:25).
130 Class—Charles Wells (K) pinned Dave Hogan (5:43).
140 Class—Dave Beehler (K) pinned Will Johnson (5:43).
147 Class—Mario Rivera (O) pinned Bob Withall (3:17).
157 Class — Robert Gates (O) pinned Ed Van Riel (4:09).
165 — Jim Farmer (O) decisioned John Mowell, 12-10.
Unlimited Class—Marv Shaub (K) decisioned Jim Walker 4-2.

Jayvees

112 Class — Jim Cornish (O) decisioned Richard Eckert, 6-5.
124 Class—Bob Lambert (K) decisioned Enrique Serino, 5-4.
155 Class — John Oviatt (O) pinned Jim Every.
168 Class — Ronald Dietz (K) pinned John Hovanes (1:10).
178 Class — Pete Stroble (K) decisioned Al Chaffins, 4-2.

Beehler, Barnett, Wells and Shaub are undefeated in KHS's two matches this season. Coach Ken Brown announced that the Rockland county tournament scheduled for later this month has been called off.

Brown added, though, that his wrestlers will give a demonstration March 12 at the field house as part of a benefit show which will include a basketball game. Several members of his squad will also compete in the tournament at Middletown March 23.

Mickey Mantle Pro and Con .... No. 3

Ready to Take Place With Greats

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here, for the first time, Joe DiMaggio tells of the Mickey Mantle of today—and the future. This is the last of three dispatches by the ex-Yankee Clipper.)

By JOE DI MAGGIO

As Told to Harry Grayson, NEA Sports Editor

Miami, Fla.—(NEA)—It didn't come easy to Mickey Mantle. That's why, barring disability, he is ready to take his place among the all-time giants of the game.

No other player in history was subjected to so much pressure as was the 19-year-old Mantle of 1951. Mickey had a fantastic spring with the Yankees and even the players were raving about him. He was a kid with only a season and a half in the lower minors, yet he had pressure on him from the start.

It nearly broke Mantle's heart when he had to be sent to Kansas City to learn the strike zone, but all of us knew he would be back soon. He was, 40 games later.

* * *

BUT EVEN WITH all his talent, Mantle had major problems to take on. For one thing, he was a shortstop being converted to an outfielder. And he was with a club that had to win. The Yankees can't afford and don't have to go along with a youngster even when he is labeled "Can't Miss" in capitals.

Well, Mantle has made it. When a player acquires his stature, the trick is to keep going.

That's not as easy as it sounds. Last year, Mickey stirred up plenty of excitement by making that strong run at Ruth's record. This year, he'll be expected to maintain that dizzy pace. This is the acid test for a super star. There's no room for off-years. And Mickey gets it in this, his fifth season as a Yankee.

The fact that the Yankees repeatedly win, stresses the importance of the "big" player, the fellow who bats in runs with the long ball.

As reluctant as I am to couple myself with this kind of company, it must be pointed out for the record that the Yankees have won just one pennant when they didn't have a Babe Ruth, a Joe DiMaggio or a Mickey Mantle. That was in the war year 1943.

THE YANKEES WERE EXTREMELY fortunate in obtaining one to succeed the other. Ruth was purchased for $125,000 from the Red Sox. To the credit of Ed Barrow and scouts Bill Essick and Joe Devine, the Yankees took a chance on the knee I injured in a freak accident getting out of a crowded jitney in San Francisco.

And Mantle walked into the Joplin Western Association club's park and asked for a tryout. Joplin just happened to be a Yankee farm.

As I see it, Mickey certainly will keep on going. Just as long as he remains sound. And he is just coming into his own as a defensive center fielder.

Overall, the Yankees are a young club and they tell me they have more good youngsters coming up than any other outfit. They could use a pitcher or two (maybe that trade took care of this) because Whitey Ford was the club's only big pitcher last season.

Gil McDougald clicking as a shortstop was the Yankees' biggest single development of 1956.

AND THEY HAVE MANTLE who at 24, last season placed himself next to Babe Ruth as the greatest home run hitter in Yankee history.

So there is no reason in the world, in my opinion, why the Yankees should not keep on winning for another several years. No club, regardless of how well run, could win 22 pennants in 35 years—and be in the position they are now—without an element of luck.

Mickey Mantle walking into a minor league ball park is part of that story.

Bailey's All-Around Brilliance Sparks Woodstock to Sweep

Dave Bailey, Woodstock Varsity's hustling backcourt operative, paced the way in a doubleheader sweep of Godwin's Upholstery and Accord Friday night on the Woodstock floor.

Bailey canned 19 in the 74-60 win over Accord and came back with 17 in the nightcap triumph of Godwin's 61-54. He also played a bangup defensive game.

The victories boosted the Varsity's record to 20-5. Friday they play host to the Fishkill AC and another club to be named later.

Good Percentages

Bailey shot for good percentages in each game. He hit 8 of 19 shots in the opener as his club made 40 per cent of their shots (35 for 87). Against the Upholsterymen he batted .500, connecting on 8 to 16 tries as Woodstock fired 25 for 65 for a team mark of 38 per cent.

Rich Hilton looped in 16 in the Accord game as he too shot .500—8 for 16. Billy Waterous made 7 of 13 heaves as he tallied 14.

Pete Koehn's 11 and Bill Kleine's 10 rounded out the double figure scoring for Woodstock.

Wustrau Scores 33

Werner Wustrau came away with individual honors, scoring 33.

Woodstock had a tougher time downing stubborn Godwins. A 14-8 spurt in the final period locked up the closely fought game.

Hilton and Waterous also played prominent rolls in that win, each tabbing a dozen.

Al Long topped both sides with 19. Tom Cragan made 14 and Godwin 12.

Woodstock experimented with eight minute quarters for the first time this season which may account for the unusually low total of points. All previous games were played in 10 minute segments.

Hawks Capture Cage Finale

Despite a 38-point effort by Bob Miller, New Paltz Teachers College downed the Alumni, 98-81, in their basketball finale Saturday night.

Miller, who holds just about every scoring record for the Hawks, showed that he hadn't lost his touch as he rimmed 11 field goals and 16 free throws for top game scoring honors.

But the Hawks offset his performance with a more balanced attack to take the win, led by Sol Goldin's 29 points. Frank Coulard canned 16 and Jack Hussnatter 11 to round out the winners' double figure scoring. Altogether, 10 players saw action for the Hawks and every one of them scored.

New Paltz was in command all the way. Its halftime margin was 46-28.

The victory balanced Coach Charles Wolbers' club's record at 8-8 for the season.

Marlboro Wins Easily

Mandia Scores 48 Points For New UCAL Point Mark

Richie Mandia rewrote the record books in the UCAL by scoring 48 points as Marlboro Central routed New Paltz Central 76-61, in both clubs basketball finale Saturday night at Marlboro.

The square-shouldered pivot broke the previous high of 43 set by Saugerties High's giant center Austin Kerin just the night before. Oddly enough, Kerin set the mark against the fruitgrowers.

1,000 Point Scorer

Mandia, who has scored more than 1,000 points in his career, went wild in the second half, pouring in 29 points after getting 19 in the first half. A great deal of the credit for the record-breaking performance must also go to Mandia's teammates who fed him almost exclusively in the second half after they sensed he had a shot at a new mark.

Mandia amassed his record total on 19 field goals, and 10 out of 16 free throws. His scoring in each quarter went like this: 10, 9, 15 and 14.

The brilliant performance enabled Coach Joe Cash's crew to end the season at .500 (6-6) in the UCAL and in fourth place. Overall, their mark stands at 7-11.

Paltridge Gets 14

Bob Paltridge contributed 14 and Darryl Eckert 10 to the triumph.

Walt Dyer canned 17, Floyd Diedolf 15 and Tom Roberts and Charlie Vetter each 10 for the Huguenots who wound up with an all-losing record of 0-18.

The Marlboro Jayvees also won easily, 60-46, as Lou DeSantis meshed 22 and Bryan White 13. Karl Moehrke flipped in 14 and Mike Sullivan 13 for the Huguenots.

Coast Heavy Recovering From Beating

Portland, Ore., March 4 (AP)—A 266-pound heavyweight who narrowly missed death in a fight with a 335-pound South African was reported recovering in a hospital today.

Doctors said a 2½-hour operation saved the life of Bruce Olson, the 6-foot, 4-inch Kent, Wash., fighter who suffered a brain hemmorrhage in his bout with 7-foot, 2-inch Ewart Potgieter.

Olson was knocked out in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout Saturday night. Helped to his feet after the count, he took a few wild swings, sank onto his stool in the corner and collapsed.

At a hospital seven tiny holes were drilled in his skull before a blood clot was found, said Dr. Clinton McGill, Oregon boxing commission physician, who assisted a team of neuro-surgeons in the operation.

The clot was removed and later yesterday Olson recovered consciousness. McGill said he was rational and was able to eat.

McGill said it would be several days before they could tell whether recovery would be complete.

Celtics Cop First Title

Boston, March 4 (AP)—Rookies Bill Russell and Tom Heinsohn have helped the firehouse Boston Celtics achieve a goal the veterans couldn't reach alone—their first Eastern Division championship in the 11-year old National Basketball Assn.

In recent years, the Celtics have been the high-scoring, fast-breaking sensations of the league but their backcourt play could not carry them to the top.

A formidable front line in which All Americas Russell and Heinsohn played vital parts today has changed frustration into fruition.

It was Russell, the agile 6-10 Olympic star, who applied the clincher yesterday when Boston defeated Rochester 111-102 for the division crown to supplant defending world champion Philadelphia.

Russell Scores 30

Big Bill, who has been known to look down through a basket while hovering above it, scored 30 points, grabbed 24 rebounds and blocked shots like he was born to the task.

On four previous occasions, Boston came in second in the Eastern Division race.

After its five remaining regular- season contests, the Celtics will sit back and watch Philadelphia and Syracuse fight it out for the right to challenge them in the semifinal round of the NBA playoffs beginning March 223.

Meanwhile, the Western Division, St. Louis kept alive its title hopes by defeating sectional leader Ft. Wayne 112-102 while Minneapolis downed New York 119-108 and Syracuse belted Philadelphia 112-86.

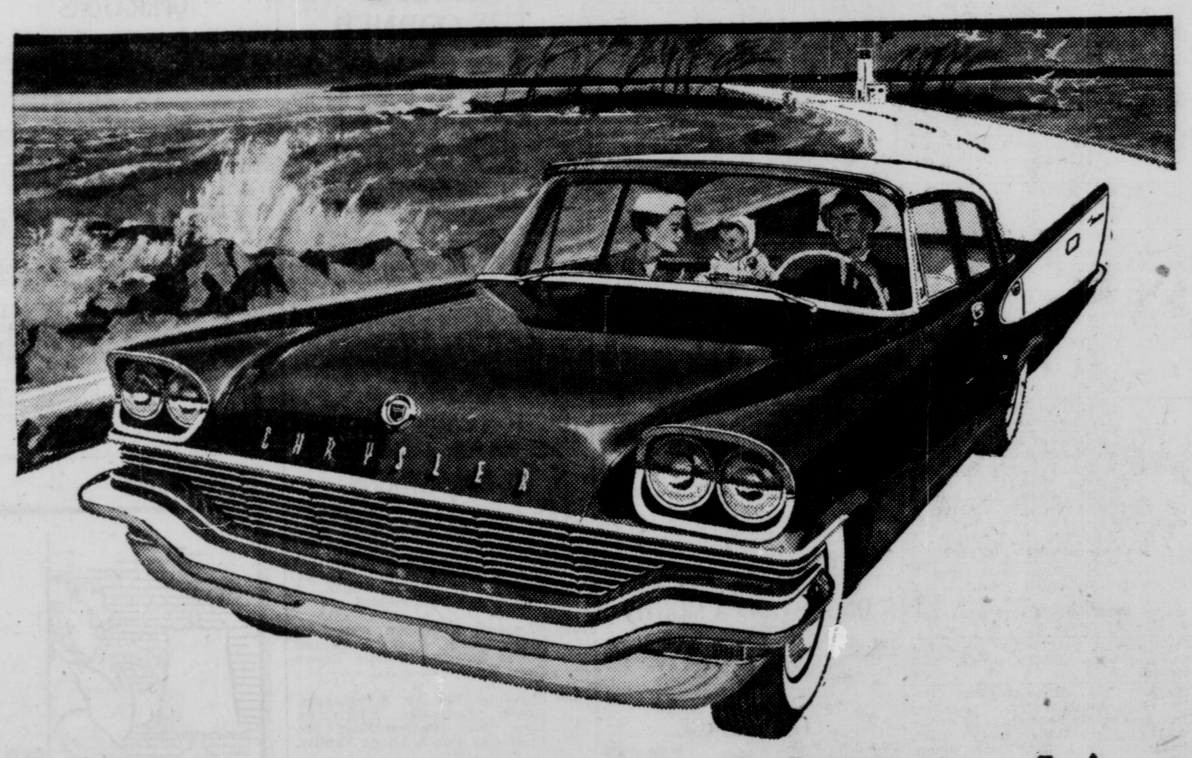

Hockey Instructor

Glen Sonmor, formerly of the Cleveland Barons in the American Hockey League, is chief instructor for the Pee Wee and Junior Hockey Leagues in Cleveland.

Linden Crow of the Chicago Cardinals led National Football League players in intercepting passes in 1956. He caught 11 for 170 yards and one touchdown.

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER

Most glamorous car in a generation

When the wind blows—this baby won't rock!

You can buck the strongest blasts of March in The Mighty Chrysler without road-sway or hard steering. Impartial wind tunnel tests proved that Chrysler's high rear fins cut down tail-wagging in the wind just as an airplane's vertical tail section prevents side-sway.

Wind or no wind, Chrysler's Torsion-Aire Ride makes the sharpest turns, the quickest stops, the roughest roads a breeze to take. No other fine car has this exclusive combination of torsion bars, rubber-isolated ball-joints, and outrigger rear springs. It gives you the comfort and safety of a luxury car with the "feel" and roadability of a sports car.

Combine this new kind of suspension with an up-to-325 horsepower engine, a satiny new pushbutton-operated Torque-Flite transmission*, plus all the other 1957 improvements your Chrysler dealer will show you, and you'll agree—this is your car! Optional at extra cost*

K of C to Hear Talk on Income Tax at Meeting

James V. Geary, of Geary and McDonald, local public accounting firm, will speak on "Your Income Tax" tonight at a meeting of Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus.

Mr. Geary, formerly deputy collector of Internal Revenue in this city, has been instructing on tax subjects in night schools throughout the area. His talk tonight will cover tax returns under the current tax law and the latest interpretations applicable.

Philip McDonald will join Mr. Geary in presenting the lecture and the discussion period which will follow. Mr. McDonald formerly was division chief of the local Internal Revenue office.

Plan Scout Day At Polo Grounds

Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts of the Rip Van Winkle Council will participate in the second annual "father-son" Scout Day at the Polo Grounds Saturday afternoon, May 4, when the New York Giants play the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Eight other metropolitan New York Scout Councils will also take part in this big affair.

Scout Executive Jerry Blair and Frank Bourke, chairman of the camping and activities committee, are formulating plans for this unique event.

Arrange Ceremonies

Keynote of the outing will be the importance of the father-son relationship in all Scouting activities. Impressive pre-game ceremonies are being arranged. An outstanding Scout drum and bugle corps will perform.

Scouts are urged to appear at the game in uniform. The best seats have been set aside by the Giants for this occasion for Scouts accompanied by their dads or adult Scout leaders. A "dividend" coupon, good for a free hot dog, will accompany each reserved ticket purchased at the regular price. All unit leaders have been notified that ticket orders are to be placed directly with the New York Giants, 100 West 42 street, New York.

Senate Group Approves Brennan Nomination

Washington, March 4 (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee announced today its unanimous approval of President Eisenhower's nomination of William J. Brennan Jr., 50-year-old New Jersey Democrat, as a justice of the Supreme Court.

Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) announced the committee also had voted at a closed meeting to conduct public hearings March 18 on the nomination of Charles Evans Whittaker of Kansas City to another seat on the court.

Eastland told reporters the vote on Brennan was 11-0, without debate and without any unfriendly comment.

Duke Gets Alligator

London, March 4 (AP)—An alligator that the Duke of Edinburgh bagged recently on the Gambia river in Bathurst Colony, West Africa, arrived by plane last night in a somewhat altered form. It was a flat, 14-foot skin neatly bound in red ribbon. Buckingham Palace could not say what use Queen Elizabeth's II's husband would do with the skin. Airport officials hustled it through customs.

Now, Please!

Berlin, March 4 (AP)—Neues Deutschland, the East German Communist party paper, said today the Soviet Union has developed a vacuum cleaner that also washes clothes. The report gave no operating details but said the two-in-one machine was developed by an inventor in the Siberian town of Prokopievsk.

Boat Missing

Kushiro, Japan, March 4 (AP)—A 78-ton cod fishing boat with a crew of 17 aboard is believed to have gone down off the northern Kurile Islands, the Maritime Safety Board said today. The Aimatsu Maru has not been heard from since it sent an SOS Saturday night.

(By The Associated Press)

Veteran Gil Turner of Philadelphia is a 2-1 choice to spoil Rudy Gwin's big time debut at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight (Monday).

The 26-year-old Philadelphian, who has fought most of the top welterweights and middleweights, figures to have too much experience for the 24-year-old Cleveland welterweight in the televised 10-rounder (Dumont, 10:30 p. m., EST).

Turner, back in the welterweight (147 pounds) division, has a 51-14-1 record, including 34 kayos. Gwin, a former amateur and all-Navy champion, has a 7-2-2 record with only one kayo to his credit.

Hart Bout Friday

Two outstanding 21-year-old welterweights, slugging Sugar Hart of Philadelphia, and Walt Byars of Boston, clash in the feature 10-rounder at New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night. The two streak-minded youngsters will be making their debuts in the Garden and on national television and radio (NBC 10 p. m., EST).

Hart, a skinny boxer-puncher, has won 11 straight for a 19-1 record. He has stopped 17 foes. Byars, unbeaten in his last 10 starts, has a 16-2-1 record, with only four kayos. The New Englander defeated Kid Gavilan, the former welterweight king, in his last outing, Dec. 4.

Amateurs instead of the pros are spotlighted on the Wednesday night radio-television (ABC 10 p. m., EST) boxing program from the Chicago Stadium. The lightweight, welterweight, middleweight, light-heavyweight and heavyweight finals of the western Golden Gloves championships will be beamed coast to coast. Each bout will be for three rounds.

Welterweight Go

Welterweight contenders are featured in other parts of the country. Virgil Akins, veteran contender from St. Louis, faces rugged Franz Szuzina of Germany in a 10-round headliner at St. Louis tonight (Monday).

Two contenders, Charley (Tombstone) Smith of Los Angeles and Joe Miceli, New York, have it out in a 10-rounder at Los Angeles Thursday night.

Another Monday night bout matches Ralph Dupas, New Orleans lightweight contender, and New York's Ray Portilla at New Orleans.

Ulster GOP to Meet

He covered the new 9.3-mile course on Burke's Mountain in 1:30:11 in a heavy snowfall Saturday. Johansson represented the Aleyeska Ski Club of Anchorage, Alaska.

Joe Pete Wilson of St. Lawrence University, N. Y., was 7th in the class A division in 1:12:31. Ed Lerson of Paul Smith College, N. Y., was 8th in class B in 1:12:03. A total of 57 competed.

Would Query Foreigners

Washington, March 4 (AP)—The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee proposed today that congressional investigating groups be empowered to bring foreigners into this country to testify. Such a law, it said, should authorize the admission of aliens whose testimony is desired by investigating committees, so long as their admission does not endanger national security. The attorney general would be consulted first. The subcommittee made this recommendation in the ninth installment of its annual report.

Youth Is Killed As Car Crashes Police Roadblock

Tuxedo Park, March 4 (AP)—One youth was killed and a companion injured today as a sports car crashed into a police auto being used as a roadblock.

The pair had outdistanced police in a 50-mile chase clocked up to 107 miles an hour.

Thomas Emgee, 17, of Suffern, a passenger in the sports car was killed.

Driver Injured

Garry Smith, 16, of Mahwah, N. J., listed by police as driver of the car, suffered multiple injuries and was taken to Tuxedo Park Memorial Hospital. His condition was reported to be fair.

No charge was placed against Smith, whom police identified as a son of Lawrence Smith, an automobile sales manager in Bergen county, N. J.

The sports car bore dealer's plates and was owned by the sales manager, police said.

Officers gave this account of the chase:

In Spring Valley, the sports car had started to slow down for a red traffic light at 2 a. m., and as a police car advanced from the rear the sports car suddenly shot forward and went through the light. The motive for the driver's action was not immediately known.

Alarm Broadcast

The police car gave chase, and police of eight municipalities cooperated after a radio alarm was broadcast.

The sports car eluded a number of road blocks during the circuitous chase that ended here near the New York-New Jersey border at 3 a. m.

The sports car smashed into the Tuxedo Park police department's car which had been used to block Route 17. It caromed into a truck and then hit a tree.

Would Demand Names

Washington, March 4 (AP)—An American Bar Assn. group says the Supreme Court should "exercise . . . judicial realism" and uphold the right of congressional committees to require that witnesses name persons who may have been Communists. A brief filed with the court by the Bar Association's special committee on Communist tactics, strategy and objectives argued that any "unwarranted limitation placed by the courts" on Congress' investigative powers "would result in irreparable harm to this coordinate branch of the government." The special committee filed its "friend of the court" brief in connection with arguments, scheduled this week, on an appeal by John T. Watkins from his conviction on contempt of Congress charges. Watkins, an organizer for the United Auto Workers Union (UAW), told the House Committee on Un-American Activities on April 29, 1954, that he never had been a Communist, but that years before he had cooperated with Communists in the labor movement. Watkins refused to answer when asked to name persons he believed may have been Communists.

One thing you can be sure of is that the classified ads you see in the Kingston Daily Freeman each week are getting results.

AMALGAMATED'S NEW $200,000 HOME—Shirt and clothing workers from Kingston and other areas were present Sunday for dedication of this new $200,000 headquarters at 484 River street, Troy, which will serve thousands belonging to the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, AFL-CIO, in the heart of the shirt manufacturing district. Its completion culminated an 18-year dream. (Boice Studio photo).

Local Members At Dedication Of ACWA Building

Kingston and area members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America attended the dedication Sunday of the new $200,000 building of the ACWA in Troy, where governmental dignitaries and leaders of the organization participated.

Governor Averell Harriman attended, also Jacob S. Potofsky, president of the shirt and clothing workers organization, which is affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

18-Year Dream

The new headquarters for the Capitol District Joint Board is at 484 River street in the upstate city, and its completion was the culmination of an 18-year dream.

President Potofsky said "It symbolizes the complete unionization of shirt and related plants in the district, and the achievement of substantial gains for the workers under Amalgamated leadership."

Attending from Kingston Local 186 were Mrs. Rita Baker, business agent; Mrs. Mae Martalto, president; Miss Mary Coughlin, secretary; Miss Katherine Myers, treasurer; Joseph Young, sergeant-at-arms and a busload of members.

Mrs. Emma Saunders, business agent of Local 384 from Middletown, and representatives from that unit also attended.

Represent Many Places

Other ACWA members who joined those from this city and Troy came from Albany, Middletown, Hudson, Glens Falls, Corinth, Warrensburg, Amsterdam, Johnstown, Warwick and Schenectady.

Prior to the dedication a banquet was held in the Hendrick Hudson Hotel.

Speakers besides the Governor and President Potofsky were Bessie Hillman, vice president, widow of Sidney Hillman, and Gladys Dickason, who is Amalgamated director of the region.

Benefits Cited

It was pointed out that shirt workers enjoy paid holidays and vacations and a comprehensive system of life, health, hospitalization, surgical and retirement benefit without costs to them. Organization of the workers actually begun in 1933.

The new headquarters houses the offices of the joint board, a main auditorium with stage, a council room, a lounge and full kitchen, bar and banquet room. Construction was started in September 1955. Social and educational programs will be held in the building which will serve 7,000 joint board members.

Soldier Held After Rival's Body Found

New York, March 4 (AP)—A Ft. Dix, N. J., soldier was charged with homicide yesterday in the fatal beating of a rival for a woman's attentions.

Pfc. William McCormick, 28, currently on leave, was seized several hours after discovery of the body of Albert Palazzo, 32, a plumber. The beating took place, police said, in the one-room Brooklyn apartment of Anna McGrath, 36.

Police said the soldier had hid himself beneath a bed in the apartment until the woman and Palazzo returned from a night of drinking.

McCormick, detectives said, accused the woman of being unfaithful, and an argument ensued. It ended with the soldier beating Palazzo with a bed slat, they said.

McCormick was seized at the Brooklyn home of his mother. Police said McCormick had fathered two of the McGrath woman's eight children.

They said McCormick had been drinking with the couple prior to the slaying but left alone, broke into the woman's apartment and hid beneath a bed to await their return.

Chilean Voters Reject Farm Labor Party

Santiago, Chile, March 4 (AP)—Chilean voters apparently gave a drubbing in yesterday's parliamentary elections to President Carlos Ibanez's Farm Labor party, identified with an unpopular anti-inflation program.

Early incomplete returns indicated a comeback for the opposition Radical party. The Radicals, who lost the 1952 election and held only 18 seats in the outgoing Chamber of Deputies, already had clinched 42 seats and claimed they would hold a majority of the 147 seats in the new chamber.

All chamber seats and 20 of the 40 Senate places were at stake.

The president's tenure was not affected by the election. His term extends to November 1958.
